NEGROES LAY NEW STRATEGY

A TRUCE IN SIGHT? — Dr. Martin Luther King (at microphone) announces in Birmingham, Ala., that he and other Negro leaders are calling a halt to massive segregation protests "because we feel the possibility looms that a settlement might come" soon. With King are Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth (center) and Ralph Abernathy.

Peacemakers Believe Haiti Crisis Is Past

Main Concern Now Is Possible Purge Within Country

NEW YORK (AP)—The special peace committee of the Organization of American States delayed its return to Haiti and the Dominican Republic today, apparently convinced that the threat of war between the two Caribbean neighbors is no longer serious.

The main concern appeared to be whether the threat of revolt in Haiti would prompt Dictator-President Francois Duvalier to launch sweeping, bloody reprisals against foreigners, particularly Americans, and suspected opponents.

The anti-Duvalier underground has threatened an uprising by May 15. Meanwhile the OAS is without authority to intervene in what is essentially a domestic Haitian affair.

Gonzalo Facio of Costa Rica, head of the OAS council, told newsmen in New York Wednesday night that it may be 10 days before the committee goes back to the troubled island of Hispaniola.

"The committee almost certainly will return," Facio said. "But just when and what their agenda will be hasn't been decided yet."

The special committee was set up last week after Duvalier's police invaded the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince in search of Duvalier opponents who had taken refuge there.

Dominican President Juan Bosch moved troops to the border and threatened military action, but a visit by the OAS committee calmed the situation.

Facio said the OAS will study a report from Alberto Zuleta of Colombia, a committee member who stayed behind and was expected back from Santo Domingo today.

"We're also evaluating other information before deciding when the committee will return," Facio said. "We're getting reports on the situation of those in asylum in Port au Prince and on the Haitian internal situation."

Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers conferred with Facio and members of the OAS committee Wednesday night in New York and told them he will try to end his government's hostile acts against 22 political refugees still in the Dominican Embassy.

He also promised the committee to press Duvalier to give safe conduct out of the country to the refugees, who were put under protection of the Colombian Embassy after Haiti broke relations with the Dominican Republic last week.

At the height of the crisis, Duvalier pledged to let 15 of the 22 refugees go and to allow the other seven to transfer to the Colombian Embassy. Instead he ringed the Dominican Embassy with troops, and Bosch has demanded that all 22 be allowed to leave the country.

Two Pan American planes air-lifted 178 wives and children of American servicemen and diplomats from Haiti Wednesday while the converted aircraft carrier Boxer and a squadron of U. S. warships lay offshore with 2,000 Marines aboard.

The State Department estimated there were 1,680 Americans in Haiti before the evacuation began, 1,300 of them non-government civilians. It urged the latter to leave Haiti and ordered families of government employees to get out.

The first evacuees said on arrival in Miami that they had seen little of the terror reported in Haiti because they had followed U.S. orders to stay close to their quarters.

Astronaut Cooper Set To Take Off Tuesday on 22-Orbit Space Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. has his "ditty bag" packed and the Mercury travel agency has ticketed him for the most extensive round-the-world tour ever planned for an American.

Next Tuesday, if the present schedule holds, Cooper will rocket into space on an intended 22-orbit mission lasting 34 hours 19 minutes. His only luggage will be a lunch box of bite-size tidbits and dehydrated food and the ditty bag—a packet for storing cameras and miscellaneous items.

A glance at the flight plan reveals these highlights:

Cooper's "Faith 7" spacecraft will travel nearly 600,000 square miles of the earth's surface—at altitudes ranging from 100 to 170 miles.

As Cooper circles the globe, he will traverse all areas between 32.5 degrees north and 32.5 degrees south latitudes, which in the Western Hemisphere extends roughly from Charleston, S.C., to Santiago, Chile, and in the Eastern Hemisphere from Shanghai, China to Sydney Australia.

He will pass over parts of five continents, North and South America, Asia, Africa and Australia. Africa and South America will be crossed frequently.

Cooper will be the first U.S. astronaut to fly over Red China, spending a total of about 45 minutes over the Communist nation on passes lasting from four to eight minutes during orbits No. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 22. Should an emergency force a landing in China, America could be faced with a diplomatic headache.

If it's a clear day, Cooper will be the first American space pilot to peek behind the Iron Curtain. As he crosses above Afghanistan on the 10th and 11th orbits he briefly will be within a couple hundred miles of the southern Soviet border—within easy viewing distance from his sky-high vantage point.

Cooper's crossings of the United States will be confined to the extreme southern area on orbits

No. 1, 2, 3, 15, 16, 17 and 18. Near the end of 1, 3, 16 and 18 he will be practically over his present home in Houston, Tex. If it were possible, he probably would wave to his wife Trudy and two teen-age daughters, waiting anxiously below.

Faith 7 will be out of communications range of the Mercury tracking network for periods up to an hour during orbits 4, 5, 6, 19, 20 and 21.

Cooper's Atlas booster is scheduled to blast off between 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Eastern Standard time. He will land in the Pacific Ocean southeast of Midway Island between 6:19 p.m. and 8:49 p.m. Eastern Standard Time the next day.

Birmingham's Racial Truce Still Shaky

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Negro integration leaders went into a strategy session this morning to map new demonstration plans in the event a shaky truce falls apart.

Edgy Birmingham residents waited to learn whether the month-long desegregation drive finally was ending.

Negro leaders announced the 24-hour truce Wednesday as heavily reinforced police patrolled the streets, quiet in sharp contrast to the crowd scenes of recent days.

The word came shortly before President Kennedy's news conference in Washington. The President said he was gratified by progress in what he described as "an ugly situation."

Alabama Gov. George Wallace called the President's remarks "unjust and unfair" and said the demonstrations had been carried on by "lawless mobs in conflict with lawfully constituted authority." Wallace said he would have no part in conferences "to compromise on the issues of segregation."

Along with a biracial committee, two aides of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy have been working behind the scenes to bring both sides together. The No. 1 negotiator is Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall.

There was no indication of what actually brought the truce.

It was a brief truce in an explosive situation in which more than 100 Negroes have been arrested since the protest demonstrations began April 3. More than 2,000—most of them teen-agers—were arrested in the past week after the demonstrations expanded.

Goals of the Negro movement are desegregation of downtown lunch counters, restrooms and other public facilities; better job

Governor Tells Governor Tend Own Business

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama told Gov. John N. Dempsey of Connecticut today to mind his own business when it comes to the racial strife in Alabama.

Dempsey sent Wallace a telegram Wednesday night expressing "deep dismay" over the current widely publicized struggle over Negroes' rights in Birmingham.

He said the majority of people in Connecticut "are disturbed both by the denial of human rights to citizens of this nation and by the damage being done daily to the image of the United States in the eyes of people abroad."

Wallace fired back this answer: "I recognize that your telegram to us this date will serve some useful purpose in your local political ambitions, but my reaction to it is simply to ask you to mind your own affairs in the state of Connecticut."

"I assume that the state of Connecticut has ample problems to occupy your interests and talents."

Murderer Flees Hocking Camp

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Penitentiary Warden Ernie Maxwell reported today that James Moore, 47, has escaped from the Hocking Honor Camp near Logan in Hocking County Wednesday evening.

Moore was serving a life term for second degree murder, accused of slaying a man in a love triangle in Summit County in 1947, the warden said. He was paroled in 1958 but returned to prison as a parole violator in 1959. Moore was the first inmate to walk away from the honor camp since November 1960.

Seventh Minuteman Shot Labeled Success

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force says the seventh of a series of Minuteman missile launches into the Pacific has been successful.

The solid-fuel missile was launched Wednesday from an underground silo at this test facility by a Strategic Air Command crew.

The target area was not disclosed.

Kennedy Fears Fresh Round Of Nuclear Tests Is Coming

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy predicts a new round of nuclear testing by the United States and the Soviet Union unless a test ban treaty is negotiated this year—which he doubts.

If the prediction comes true, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday, it "would be a great disaster for the interests of all concerned."

Recalling that he saw brightening prospects for a ban last December, Kennedy said there has been no sense of movement since then.

"I am not hopeful at all," he said, and expressed fear that progress must come soon or "perhaps the genie is out of the bottle."

8 Youngsters Get Medals at White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven boys and a girl, ranging in age from 11 to 15, received gold medals from President Kennedy today for saving fellow school children from injury or death.

Kennedy pinned American Automobile Association Gold Lifesaver medals on the youngsters at a ceremony in the rose garden outside his office.

All the award winners are members of school safety patrols. In most cases, they rushed into the paths of oncoming cars to push other children to safety.

Kennedy congratulated the AAA for organizing the awards program and for giving young people "positions of responsibility and leadership which they have responded to."

The only girl honored was Drucie S. Wetterauer, 11, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Damon Wetterauer of Evening Street Elementary School, Worthington, Ohio. Drucie grabbed a kindergarten boy by the collar and pulled him to safety when a car made a turn without regard for children crossing the street. The car brushed against Drucie but she held onto the boy and neither was injured.

Policeman Accused In Lumber Theft

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Parma patrolman and two Summit County men have been charged with grand larceny in Parma for allegedly stealing lumber the patrolman, Robert Boerke used to build a garage at his home.

Boerke, 35, has been a member of the force six years. Police Chief Francis Szabo of Parma said Boerke admitted stealing the lumber in December 1960 for use at his former home on Ronald Drive.

Boerke said he was aided by two men he met at a race track, Szabo reported. The two are Leonard Wiseman, 43, and Herbert Stujenske, 29, both of Boston Heights, who have admitted theft of thousands of dollars worth of equipment from model homes, according to Summit County authorities.

and we will not ever get him back in."

Kennedy's pessimism on this subject was matched by an equal measure of optimism about efforts to end what he termed "an ugly situation in Birmingham, Ala."

Declaring that racial strife in Birmingham damaged the city and the nation, Kennedy said in an opening statement that responsible efforts by white and Negro leaders had prompted Birmingham businessmen to pledge "substantial steps" to meet the "justifiable needs of the Negro community."

But he said "much remains to be settled before the situation can be termed satisfactory."

Kennedy said that, in the absence of violations of federal law, the federal government had limited its role in Birmingham to that of mediator. But he said the situation could be quite different if two Negro graduate students win entry this summer to the Huntsville branch of the University of Alabama.

"This, of course does involve the federal government," he said. And, reminded that Gov. George Wallace has threatened to physically and personally bar integration at the university, Kennedy said he hoped everyone would obey court orders "whether they agree with them or not."

In a 30-minute session that touched often on racial matters, Kennedy said the bettering of race relations is not a problem for the South alone.

GOP Budget Cut Fails

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans have failed in their attempt to make a big floor cut in the first regular money bill of the year but have pledged to renew their efforts on future measures.

The Senate passed the $6,069,466,250-measure Wednesday after turning back, 60-23, a Republican amendment to cut $115 million from the $1.1 billion allotment for the Treasury.

The bill also carried funds for the Post Office Department, the White House and various executive agencies.

The Senate voted more than the House allowed, in this case $72,440,250. But the Senate figure was still $77,375,750 under President Kennedy's budget request.

The biggest restoration, $55,250,000 was in the post office budget. This was recommended by the Appropriations Committee and was not contested on the floor.

Sure Way to Reduce -- Don't Eat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Patients in an obesity research program at Wadsworth Veterans Hospital have found the one way to lose weight—quit eating.

They starve, they shed pounds by the hundreds—and they get well.

Dr. Ernest J. Drenick, section chief of internal medicine, started the program two years ago as a method of weight reduction for persons suffering from their ailments.

Of the 12 persons who have starved their way to better health at Wadsworth, Elaine Johnson holds the record for fasting time.

The former WAVE, 39, has not eaten since she went on Dr. Drenick's nonfood diet 101 days ago. She tipped the scales then at a hefty 315 pounds and wore a size 50 dress.

Today she's down to a relatively trim 200, wears a 40 and hopes to lose another 50 pounds or so. She came to the hospital for treatment of high blood pressure.

"I'll starve as long as the doctor lets me," she said.

Patients taking the course are allowed all the way they want and get a twice-weekly ration of vitamins.

Record for weight loss is held by a man who dropped 200 of his 470 pounds simply by not eating.

But Dr. Drenick's biggest challenge to date is Leland Poe, 38, who packed 500 pounds on his 6-7 frame when they carried him into the hospital about two weeks ago.

Poe now weighs 444 and has lost 10 pounds in the past two days. His goal is to get down to 230 within the next six months.

"I was like a bear going into hibernation," Poe recalled. I was sleepy and hungry for the first four days but now my body has changed and I'm living off the fat and food that I've stored up over the years.

"And there's still a lot here," he observed.

Temporary Ohio Capital Eyed

Transfer Plan Needed If Enemy Bombs Fall

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some day, if enemy bombs fall, Ohio may need a new capital for a few days or weeks, and county seats may have to be moved temporarily.

Looking to this possibility, the Senate scheduled a vote this afternoon on a bill to permit removing the seat of either state or county government to a new location in the event of attack.

To give its committees more time to consider bills, the Senate is meeting this afternoon, rather than this morning. The move to delay the Senate's weekend recess from this morning, which is normal to this afternoon indicates the Senate plans to adjourn the session in mid-June.

In the House Wednesday, a bill to tighten regulations on beauty schools and operators fell three votes short of the 69 necessary for passage. The vote was 66-57. A move to reconsider the bill's defeat is likely.

The House approved, 82-37, and sent to the Senate a bill increasing the minimum population of a health district from 5,000 to 25,000. The measure also requires combining smaller health districts by 1972.

The House, in a generally routine legislative day, passed and sent to the Senate bills to codify marriage annulment laws, require a one-year probational period for new city firemen and lower franchise and intangible taxes on small business investment companies and farm credit associations.

The Senate revised, passed and sent to the House by a bare-minimum 17-14 vote a bill it defeated six weeks ago to permit appointment of boards of trustees for state university branches. In a companion measure for which the path may now be cleared, such trustee boards would be authorized to submit to voters tax levies for the support of such institutions.

Woods Pussy Halts Spring Concert

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—No encores were called for at the end of the annual spring concert at Catholic Central High School Wednesday night. A skunk broke up the finale by walking across the stage and the audience fled.

The last number on the program was the school's alma mater, presented by the band and chorus. The audience of about 1,500 parents and pupils stood.

The music began, and out walked the skunk.

No one has discovered how the skunk entered the building and how—or if—he left.

Retail Unit Hears Report on Survey

Results of a business survey conducted here were explained when local retail merchants met today for a breakfast session.

The survey was conducted by Herbert Barrett, a teacher at Circleville High School, as part of his work leading to a masters degree at Ohio State University. Local retailers aided in the project.

The extensive report listed several shopping factors that were outlined by Barrett. These included consumer comments on shopping conditions in Circleville.

The report disclosed that about 76 per cent of the persons contacted cited the need for improved shopping conditions. Approximately 20 per cent indicated no improvements were needed and three per cent expressed a slight need.

ABOUT 74 per cent reported being in favor of improving the

Remember Winter Chill?

Unseasonably warm weather covered broad areas of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today after Wednesday's midsummer temperatures in many cities.

The mercury stayed in the 60-70 degree range during the night in most areas. Readings in the 80s and 90s were reported Wednesday in many sections as a strong flow of warm air from the Southeast fanned across sections from the Atlantic to the Rockies.

Temperatures in the 50s and a few 40s were reported this morning along northern border areas from New England to the Plains. Hottest spots were in the southwest desert region with readings in the 70s and 80s.

Record high temperatures for May 8 included 99 in Dodge City, Kan., 91 in Chicago and 90 in St. Louis and Burlington, Iowa. It was 101 in Phoenix, Ariz.

GOP To Study Romney, Barry

$1000-a-Plate Dinner To Feature Pair

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders from around the country dine tonight at $1,000 a plate—and take a new look at a couple of potential presidential nominees.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona will have a chance to show their political wares at the dinner, which party officials hope will raise more than $400,000 for the 1964 congressional campaigns.

The gathering also provides an opportunity for informal discussion among the party leaders about the political future of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He had been considered almost a sure bet for next year's GOP presidential nomination until doubts were thrown on his prospects by his divorce 14 months ago and his marriage last Saturday to a divorcee Margaretta Fidler Murphy.

He canceled out of tonight's dinner because he's honeymooning in Venezuela. However, he sent in his check for $1,000.

Romney is down to make one of the brief speeches at the dinner, while Goldwater will be the guest of honor. Originally the dinner was billed as a "salute to Goldwater," honoring him as former chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee.

But later the title was changed to "salute to the senate"—apparently in the interests of party unity.

There was no sign that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower would attend the affair.

Eisenhower has not publicly proclaimed his choice for the nomination; he has said merely that he would support the man the Republican convention chooses.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania will not attend because of prior commitments in his home state.

Brutal Slaying Rocks Boston

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A curtain of fear hung over the Greater Boston area today in the wake of the brutal slaying of a 26-year-old music student found in her apartment off Harvard Square.

The body of Miss Beverly Sammons of Beckley, W.Va., a graduate student at Boston University who was preparing for an audition with the Metropolitan Opera Co., was found Wednesday night.

The slaying revived fears caused by the eight unsolved stranglings of women in Greater Boston since June.

Dr. Peter A. Delmonico, medical examiner, said cause of death was a stab wound through the heart. There were 15 stab wounds on the body, he said.

"A person who would inflict brutality of this sort was not of sound mind," Delmonico said. The doctor said there was no evidence of rape.

8 Youngsters Get Medals at White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven boys and a girl, ranging in age from 11 to 15, received gold medals from President Kennedy today for saving fellow school children from injury or death.

Kennedy pinned American Automobile Association Gold Lifesaver medals on the youngsters at a ceremony in the rose garden outside his office.

All the award winners are members of school safety patrols. In most cases, they rushed into the paths of oncoming cars to push other children to safety.

Kennedy congratulated the AAA for organizing the awards program and for giving young people "positions of responsibility and leadership which they have responded to."

The only girl honored was Druce S. Wetterauer, 11, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Damon Wetterauer of Evening Street Elementary School, Worthington, Ohio. Druce grabbed a kindergarten boy by the collar and pulled him to safety when a car made a turn without regard for children crossing the street. The car brushed against Druce but she held onto the boy and neither was injured.

Policeman Accused In Lumber Theft

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Parma patrolman and two Summit County men have been charged with grand larceny in Parma for allegedly stealing lumber the patrolman, Robert Boerke used to build a garage at his home.

Boerke, 35, has been a member of the force six years. Police Chief Francis Szabo of Parma said Boerke admitted stealing the lumber in December 1960 for use at his former home on Ronald Drive.

Boerke said he was aided by two men he met at a race track, Szabo reported. The two are Leonard Wiseman, 43, and Herbert Stujenske, 29, both of Boston Heights, who have admitted theft of thousands of dollars worth of equipment from model homes, according to Summit County authorities.

Sure Way to Reduce -- Don't Eat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Patients in an obesity research program at Wadsworth Veterans Hospital have found the one way to lose weight—quit eating.

They starve, they shed pounds by the hundreds—and they get well.

Dr. Ernest J. Drenick, section chief of internal medicine, started the program two years ago as a method of weight reduction for persons suffering from their ailments.

Woods Pussy Halts Spring Concert

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—No encores were called for at the end of the annual spring concert at Catholic Central High School Wednesday night. A skunk broke up the finale by walking across the stage and the audience fled.

The last number on the program was the school's alma mater, presented by the band and chorus.

The audience of about 1,500 parents and pupils stood.

The music began, and out walked the skunk.

Remember Winter Chill?

Unseasonably warm weather covered broad areas of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today after Wednesday's midsummer temperatures in many cities.

The mercury stayed in the 60-70 degree range during the night in most areas. Readings in the 80s and 90s were reported Wednesday in many sections as a strong flow of warm air from the Southeast fanned across sections from the Atlantic to the Rockies.

Temperatures in the 50s and a few 40s were reported this morning along northern border areas from New England to the Plains. Hottest spots were in the southwest desert region with readings in the 70s and 80s.

Road Mileage Is Tabulated By Trustees

Township trustees in Pickaway County have reported the correct number of miles of roads, exclusive of state and federal highways, in each township to the office of Henry T. McCrady, county engineer.

Because of discrepancies between township mileage reports and the mileage inventory taken by the planning survey section of the Ohio Highway Department, the reconciliation of mileage was necessary before final payments of 1962 license revenues could be made, according to McCrady.

A member of the planning survey section and McCrady met with the trustees to explain the individual mileage differences. They arrived at a figure of 409.63 total mileage.

Corrected road mileages for individual townships are:

Madison, 22.43; Pickaway, 39; Washington, 31.95; Darby, 31; Jackson, 18.14; Monroe, 40.81; Harrison, 19.88; Walnut, 58.76; Deercreek, 32.26; Circleville, 8.66; Perry, 24.96; Saltcreek, 38.19; Muhlenberg, 12.01; Scioto, 35.03; Wayne, 16.55.

Annual Scout Leadership Program Held at Fairgrounds

Pickaway District Scouters met for their Annual Meeting and Leadership Recognition Ceremony yesterday evening in the Grange and 4-H Community Center at the Fairgrounds.

Guest speaker was Charles H. Klippel, retired YMCA Executive Secretary, who spoke on the history of Scouting, various men concerned with the origination of Scouting, and a comparison of Scouting to YMCA, 4-H, and Boys' Clubs.

Harry Diehl, district chairman, presented Klippel with a Scouters' pin, making him an official Scout leader, in recognition of his help to Scouting over the years. Klippel commented that in the days when he could have been a scout, there wasn't any scouting.

Present were Joe Wright and Clark Hunsicker of Williamsport Troop and Pack 179; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armentrout and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Day of New Holland Troop and Pack 157; Mr. and Mrs. Art Deal and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Partee, of Ashville Troop and Pack 159; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Winner, Ray Winner, Gene Dowler and Dick Copton of the Rotary Club Explorer Post 3; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown, Doyle Painter Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bills of the First Presbyterian Church Troop and Pack 205; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Radcliff, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Holbrook and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Young of the First EUB Church Troop and Pack 155; Mr. and Mrs. George Meyers and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Crabtree of the First Methodist Church Troop and Pack 32; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Haley, Don Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Peters, Jack Walters, Bruce Pontius, and Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson of the Trinity Lutheran Church Troop and Pack 170.

Representing Pickaway District were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diehl, district chairman; Charles Winner, advancement chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hardy, leadership training chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Painter Sr., district commissioner; Earl Palm, finance chairman; David Amos, public relations; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wirth and Ken Luna, both assistant district commissioners; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Melvin, former scouters; Gil Bolin, district scout executive, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klippel, guest speaker.

The Commissioner's Staff reported that Pickaway District had a 33 per cent increase in membership last year, 107 new Cubs, Scouts, and Explorers, the largest gain in Region 4 (Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia). A total of 208 Pickaway boys advanced in rank during the year.

The Camping and Activities Committee announced that Troops 155, 159, 170, and 205 are planning to attend Camp Lazarus this summer, and Troops 52, and 179 will be pioneer units at the first season of the new Camp Greenhills. Scouts of Troops 205 and Explorer Post 3 will trek to Philmont Scout Ranch this summer.

Carl Zehner Jr., and Jack Walters have organized the new Five Trails Chapter of the Order of the Arrow, Scouting's honorary camping organization, which will conduct its first tap-out ceremony June 8 at a Williamsport District Camporee.

The Health and Safety Committee inspected the meeting places of five units, 57 Scouts and 182 automobiles and rejected 28 at the 1963 Auto Safety Check lanes conducted April 27.

The Organization and Extension Committee reported the formation of four new units.

The Annual Meeting Committee consisted of Gene Dowler, decorations and arrangements; Gary Winner, tickets; Jim Peters, dinner arrangements; Doyle Painter Sr. and Ted Young, welcoming, hosting and displays; Mrs. Harry Diehl, corsages; David Amos and Dan Crabtree, public relations and photography; Harry Diehl, program.

The dinner was prepared and served by members of the Logan Elm Grange. The proceeds are for the Pomona Grange Building Fund which financed the finishing of the Grange and 4-H Community Center.

Stocks Near Another High

NEW YORK (AP) — A heavy wave of trading pushed the stock market toward a new 1963 high today, then gains were clipped as trading moderated early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon registered a substantial gain of 1.0 at 271.8 with industrials up 1.5, rails up .6 and utilities up .3.

First hour volume totaled 1.64 million shares, the largest in weeks.

Steels, motors, chemicals, oils, rails, utilities, electronics, and other groups posted gains. Airlines, tobacco, and building materials were mixed.

General Motors, whose favorable dividend action boosted it Wednesday to a new historic high of 73 1/4, opened 1/4 below that on a large block of 10,300 shares, drew even to its previous close, then edged off a bit as additional profits were taken.

opportunities for Negroes; formation of a biracial committee with authority to solve racial problems; and dismissal of charges against all demonstrators who were jailed.

The truce in Birmingham faltered when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, two Negro leaders, were convicted and jailed for parading without a permit.

The two had been arrested on Good Friday while leading a protest march.

They and 34 other demonstrators were given maximum sentences of 180 days and $100 fines.

Before the conviction King told a news conference:

"We are hopeful that the possibility looms that we may be able to make some sort of settlement within the next 24 hours. We are very near a settlement."

As news of the convictions spread, some Negro leaders said they felt the city had broken faith. They said the truce would be called off.

But other leaders said it would stand. King himself stepped out of jail three hours later on $2,500 bond and said he hoped the truce would not be broken. Abernathy also was freed on bond.

But there were murmurings. In recent days, demonstrations have meant seething crowds, harried police and firemen, high-velocity fire hoses, police dogs and wholesale arrests—but no conflict between white spectators and Negroes.

Road Mileage Is Tabulated By Trustees

Township trustees in Pickaway County have reported the correct number of miles of roads, exclusive of state and federal highways, in each township to the office of Henry T. McCrady, county engineer.

Because of discrepancies between township mileage reports and the mileage inventory taken by the planning survey section of the Ohio Highway Department, the reconciliation of mileage was necessary before final payments of 1962 license revenues could be made, according to McCrady.

A member of the planning survey section and McCrady met with the trustees to explain the individual mileage differences. They arrived at a figure of 409.63 total mileage.

Corrected road mileages for individual townships are:

Madison, 22.43; Pickaway, 39; Washington, 31.95; Darby, 31; Jackson, 18.14; Monroe, 40.81; Harrison, 19.88; Walnut, 38.76; Deer Creek, 32.26; Circleville, 8.66; Perry, 24.96; Salt Creek, 38.19; Muhlenberg, 12.01; Scioto, 35.03; Wayne, 16.55.

Stocks Near Another High

NEW YORK (AP) — A heavy wave of trading pushed the stock market toward a new 1963 high today, then gains were clipped as trading moderated early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon registered a substantial gain of 1.0 at 271.8 with industrials up 1.5, rails up .6 and utilities up .3.

First hour volume totaled 1.64 million shares, the largest in weeks.

Steels, motors, chemicals, oils, rails, utilities, electronics, and other groups posted gains. Airlines, tobacco, and building materials were mixed.

General Motors, whose favorable dividend action boosted it Wednesday to a new historic high of 73 1/4, opened 1/4 below that on a large block of 10,300 shares, drew even to its previous close, then edged off a bit as additional profits were taken.

Birmingham's

opportunities for Negroes; formation of a biracial committee with authority to solve racial problems; and dismissal of charges against all demonstrators who were jailed.

The truce in Birmingham faltered when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, two Negro leaders, were convicted and jailed for parading without a permit.

The two had been arrested on Good Friday while leading a protest march.

They and 34 other demonstrators were given maximum sentences of 180 days and $100 fines.

Before the conviction King told a news conference: "We are hopeful that the possibility looms that we may be able to make some sort of settlement within the next 24 hours. We are very near a settlement."

As news of the convictions spread, some Negro leaders said they felt the city had broken faith. They said the truce would be called off.

But other leaders said it would stand. King himself stepped out of jail three hours later on $2,500 bond and said he hoped the truce would not be broken. Abernathy also was freed on bond.

But there were murmurings. In recent days, demonstrations have meant seething crowds, harried police and firemen, high-velocity fire hoses, police dogs and wholesale arrests—but no conflict between white spectators and Negroes.

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—When Elizabeth Taylor, an American motion picture actress, gets around to showing her native city, London, to television viewers next season, there won't be a tourist cliché shown the producers assured us.

"I suppose we'll see Liz Taylor in the Poet's Corner, Liz Taylor setting her watch by Big Ben, Liz Taylor borrowing a pound from the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street," ventured your reporter eagerly.

Norman Baer and Phil D'Antoni who dreamed up "Elizabeth Taylor's London" and sold it to Miss Taylor, a sponsor and the CBS network inside of four days, looked disdainful.

"Absolutely not," replied D'Antoni firmly. "You won't see any of those tired old things."

Baer and D'Antoni have been in network broadcasting for several years, and formed a television packaging company about three months ago.

"We want to produce specials, and we worked on several ideas," explained Baer. "Then we thought of the London show. There were really only two people who would have been perfect to do it." "Elizabeth Taylor or Elizabeth T.?" asked your reporter. "No," said Baer. "Miss Taylor or Princess Margaret. We asked Miss Taylor first and she accepted."

The producers air-mailed some material directly to the actress, who immediately invited them to talk it over.

D'Antoni flew to London and wrapped up the deal. Neither partner will say how much Miss Taylor will receive for the hour-long special but indicated that $400,000 was a most conservative figure.

"She felt that a television tour of London had great educational value," explained D'Antoni.

The filming of the show is expected to start the end of this month. To be finished by the end of June. They have hired an English camera crew, including one photographer who has made a specialty of photographing women. And in color.

Recommended tonight: "The Nurses," CBS, 10-11 (Eastern Daylight Time)—"Express Stop from Lenox Avenue," an episode, starring Ruby Dee, about a nurse who tried to leave Harlem and her people behind.

WASHINGTON (AP) — All through his news conference President Kennedy stepped gingerly on the subject of racial strife in Alabama as if he were leading an expedition on tip-toe around a land mine.

Then it suddenly popped—or it sounded like a pop—because of clumsy Alabama timing. Negro leaders themselves disagreed on whether they heard an explosion.

Kennedy kept quiet this past week while day after day Negroes by the thousands in Birmingham put on massive demonstrations for equal treatment and thousands of them were jailed.

The President might have stepped publicly into this critical situation by calling for a solution or criticizing the Negroes or the whites who refused them equal treatment or both. But he preferred not to.

Behind the scenes his administration was trying to get white and Negro leaders to reach some kind of understanding. As this seemed near this week he decided to say something publicly, but in a very mild and indirect way.

Tuesday night through an aide he expressed hope the increasingly dangerous problem could be settled peacefully. Then less than 10 minutes before he faced his news world.

Negro leaders announced a 24-hour truce in the demonstrations.

Kennedy told the newsmen, "We can hope that tensions will ease" and this episode would remind all communities how urgent it is that "all bars to equal opportunity" be removed as promptly as possible.

He said "very real abuses" had been inflicted on Birmingham Negroes "too long" and that the situation in that city was "damaging the reputation of Birmingham and the United States."

And he added the thought that the best way "to prevent that kind of damage is to, in time, take steps to provide equal treatment to all our citizens."

While all this might be taken as a rebuke to the white segregationists, Kennedy's idea that in time steps toward equal treatment should be taken can hardly please the Negroes.

Their massive demonstrations were as vivid evidence as anything in American history that they are fed up with this theory of gradualism—of waiting—for equal treatment. They've been waiting for it since the days of slavery.

Kennedy made it clear he is reluctant to step directly into the Birmingham problem. He was asked if he thought a fireside chat by him might help improve race relations.

"Well, it might," he said, but added: "If I thought it would, I would give one." He said it didn't "seem to do much good" when he made a television appeal for restraint last fall on the night of the riot at the University of Mississippi.

He told the newsmen: "I think what we are interested in now is seeing the situation peacefully settled in the next 12-24 hours. I think all of our statements should be devoted to that end."

Then came hat popping sound which may turn out to have been an explosion.

The Rev. Martin Luther King and the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy were leaders in a Negro demonstration April 19. They were arrested and charged with parading without a license. They were also leaders in the recent massive demonstrations.

Both were involved in the 24-hour truce arranged Wednesday. Shortly after it was announced,

24 New Choppers Sent to Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The United States is sending another company of 24 fast, turbine-powered helicopters to South Viet Nam to give greater mobility to Vietnamese forces operating against Communist guerrillas in the Mekong Delta.

Elements of the 114th Air Mobile Company, previously based at Ft. Knox, Ky., began arriving from the United States Tuesday night in big transport planes. The units are expected to be operational within a week.

New Expense Account Tax Ruling Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service promises to consider all the complaints about its proposed new expense account regulations and hopes to get the regulations published in June.

They would take effect 30 days after publication. The regulations will try to set down what is deductible in travel and entertainment expenses.

perhaps during Kennedy's news conference, they went to trial in Birmingham's City Court on the April 19 charge.

Both were convicted and sentenced to 180 days in jail, plus a $100 fine, plus costs. The fat was in the fire all over again. Other Negro leaders immediately announced the 24-hour truce was off.

Some said they considered the jailing of King and Abernathy as "breaking faith" on the truce. One, Wyatt Tee Walker, said now the plan is to take "whatever steps are necessary."

But another Negro leader, the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth said the mass demonstrations would not be resumed and that the jailing of King and Abernathy "may not be the breaking of faith on the part of the white businessmen" who had helped work out the truce agreement.

King and Abernathy finally were released on bond and King said he hoped his conviction would have no effect on the truce.

Whether these contradictory statements of the Negro leaders means a split among them isn't clear. Because it isn't, clear what comes next. Meanwhile, Kennedy said nothing further.

Dinah Shore Very Anxious To Start on Her Retirement

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's such a wonderful feeling," says Dinah Shore, "to wake up in the morning and wonder what you are going to do that day. My biggest decision is whether I will play golf or tennis. I'm living."

The songbird had returned to the NBC studios for her last hours of work before her announced retirement from television. Her final show, which will appear next Sunday had been taped. All that remained were some commercials for her sponsor.

"I've had more finale lately," she smiled. "The final show, the final party, the final commercial. They're beginning to wonder if I'll ever leave."

"But this is it. I've already wept buckets, so I won't do that again. And I'll be back. There's no telling how soon."

There was good reason for her sentiment: A good slice of her life has been spent in the precincts of NBC. Her television career started in 1951 with her 15-minute show. Some 444 telecasts later, she launched into a weekly hour. The hours lasted seven years, though in the last few years she has cut her pace to a dozen or so yearly.

Before television there were movies, radio, records, etc., dating back to her debut as a singer of 14 in 1931.

"I've worked a long time," she observed. "You know there are some things you get to do only once in your life, like watching your children grow up. I'm determined not to let those things pass me by because I was too busy working."

"From now on, the most important thing in my life is going to be Jody's Little League team. Like Red Skelton and other Hollywood personalities, Dinah now considers Palm Springs her permanent home. She finds it ideal for the rearing of her two youngsters, Melissa, 13, and Jody, 10.

Dinah said she won't stop singing. She'll play clubs and occasional benefits—if the children can be with her.

Presbytery Aims Action against Rockefeller Cleric

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — The Presbyterian minister who married Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Margaretta F. Murphy faces disciplinary action at a meeting of the Hudson River Presbytery May 24.

The action involves the Rev. Marshall L. Smith of the Union Church of Pocantico Hills. It centers around a Presbyterian Church rule that approval of the Presbytery is required for a minister to officiate at the marriage of a person divorced less than a year.

Rockefeller was divorced 14 months ago and his new wife was divorced April 1.

The Rev. Joseph P. Bishop, Rye, N.Y., moderator of the Presbytery announced the intended disciplinary action against the Rev. Mr. Smith. He said the Rev. Mr. Smith had not consulted the Presbytery before performing the ceremony last Saturday.

And he added the thought that the best way "to prevent that kind of damage is to, in time, take steps to provide equal treatment to all our citizens."

While all this might be taken as a rebuke to the white segregationists, Kennedy's idea that in time steps toward equal treatment should be taken can hardly please the Negroes.

Their massive demonstrations were as vivid evidence as anything in American history that they are fed up with this theory of gradualism—of waiting—for equal treatment. They've been waiting for it since the days of slavery.

Kennedy made it clear he is reluctant to step directly into the Birmingham problem. He was asked if he thought a fireside chat by him might help improve race relations.

"Well, it might," he said, but added: "If I thought it would, I would give one." He said it didn't "seem to do much good" when he made a television appeal for restraint last fall on the night of the riot at the University of Mississippi.

He told the newsmen: "I think what we are interested in now is seeing the situation peacefully settled in the next 12-24 hours. I think all of our statements should

24 New Choppers Sent to Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The United States is sending another company of 24 fast, turbine-powered helicopters to South Viet Nam to give greater mobility to Vietnamese forces operating against Communist guerrillas in the Mekong Delta.

Elements of the 114th Air Mobile Company, previously based at Ft. Knox, Ky., began arriving from the United States Tuesday night in big transport planes. The units are expected to be operational within a week.

New Expense Account Tax Ruling Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service promises to consider all the complaints about its proposed new expense account regulations and hopes to get the regulations published in June.

They would take effect 30 days after publication.

The regulations will try to set down what is deductible in travel and entertainment expenses.

Remarks To Irk a Mother

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that mothers get tired of hearing: "What'll we give Mom for Mother's Day this Sunday—a new ice pick or a new can opener?" "Don't tell me we're having shish kebabs with grape leaves for dinner again? That's what I had for lunch. Can't you ever think up anything new?" "After all, Mother, this is a new generation, and I don't want to be stick-in-the-mud. Why, there are girls in our class who have been going steady since they were 10—and here I am almost 12 years old." "Hey, Mom, here's some good news. My big pet blacksnake in the basement has just had kittens. Now we can have snakes all over the house."

NEW YORK (AP)—Tax collectors compete, too. And taxpayers grow cynical.

Many tax-bitten citizens have felt that any cut in federal rates would only encourage state and local governments to raise their rates to scoop in the savings.

But others have argued that the state and local bodies will be doing that anyway, so that the taxpayer at least would be about even with where he is now if he could get a cut in his federal outlay.

Either way much of the boost that the administration says a federal tax cut would give the economy would be lost—the taxpayers just wouldn't have much, if any, more money to spend than they have now.

"Stab me with a knife, Mother, shoot me with a gun—but please, please, please don't make me wear an old-fashioned dress like that to school. Everybody in class will laugh at me. I'd rather be dead, dead, dead."

"What a soft snap women have today. Why, my grandmother used to take in washing to help out the family."

"It's Mrs. Spieler on the phone, Mom. She wants to know if you can drive around and pick up three or four more parents on your way to the PTA meeting tonight."

"I'd love to help you with the dinner dishes, Mother dear but right now I have to call Jane and ask her about this history quiz we're going to have tomorrow. You wouldn't want me to flunk it, would you?"

"So what if the meal does get cold, Mom? I ain't really hungry anyway."

"Now I want to get one thing straight once and for all: I'm the boss in this family."

"I don't see why you complain about being so tired. Why, my grandmother worked 16 hours a day, lived to be 90, and never had a labor-saving device in her life."

Intercontinental missiles have a range of 5,000 miles and it is expected this will soon be doubled.

with a little patience, the increased business activity would add $1.3 billion to the total revenues of various state governments and $1.4 billion to local government collections.

A lot of state and local bodies could use that money. Their spending has been climbing faster than their collections and they have been borrowing heavily to make up the deficit.

Since World War II spending by the states has grown from about $6 billion a year to about $30 billion. Outlays by various local bodies have risen from around $7 billion to $33 billion a year.

Total debts of the states have climbed from $18 per capita to $118 per capita and local debts from $102 to $325 per capita, the Tax Foundation figures. Combined state and local government debt has risen above $80 billion.

This is far below the federal debt of $203 billion, but the rate of growth since the war has been much faster than that of the federal debt.

It is this need of state and local governments for more revenues to finance the demands of a growing population for schools and other services that leads many to feel that whatever the federal government bestows on the taxpayer in the way of a cut in income tax rates will be swallowed up by rising rates at the other government levels.

Each year sees new or higher taxes enacted in many parts of the nation.

This doesn't detract from the joy that many businessmen and most individuals would greet any slash in federal tax rates on the grounds that every little bit helps.

But it does make some wonder just how much of a boost the economy would get after all the tax collectors had their say.

Limits of Credibility

By John Chamberlain

Certain pundits, speculating upon the leftward drift in the recent Italian election, are now predicting a wide comeback for European leftist parties in general. They are accepting the probable emergence of Ludwig Erhard, an anti-collectivist, as the next Chancellor of West Germany, but they are nonetheless convincing themselves that Erhard will shortly be succeeded by Willy Brandt, the Socialist Mayor of West Berlin. And they are certain that Harold Wilson, demagogic leader of the British Labor Party, will defeat conservative Harold Macmillan in the next English election.

Since strains evoke counter-strains, it is not at all certain that a clear victory for European socialism is anywhere near in sight. Both Erhard and Macmillan may prove more durable than anyone now supposes. But the forces of those who are opposed to the socialist drift are obviously in for some ticklish days. The leftward lean of European politics will encourage the spiritual cousins of Willy Brandt and Harold Wilson on this side of the ocean, and the "Right" — meaning those who are for the traditional free pattern of American economic life — will have to remain poised on its toes.

To remain effective, the American Right must be particularly careful not to exceed the limits of credibility in the charges it makes when it moves into battle. In the nineteen thirties in New York City, when the Communists were cultivating the so-called "fellow travelers" among the liberals, they used to hold long discussions about the limits of credibility. It was generally agreed among the Communists that the "big lie" didn't matter. They thought they could boggle over the idiocy of saying that "Communism is Twentieth Century Americanism." This sort of claim may have been a libel on the United States in general, but it libeled no one in particular.

When it came to libelling individuals, however, the Communists were careful. They did not say that socialist Norman Thomas was a "fascist"; careful of the limits of credibility, they merely said that Thomas's "position" made him "objectively a social fascist." This sort of careful limitation made the Communist position seem sociologically "scientific."

Senator Joe McCarthy, when he came along to do battle with the Left, was singularly oblivious to questions of credibility. At one time he requested a memorandum from Freda Uteley, a one-time Communist sympathizer, on the career of Owen Lattimore. Mrs. Uteley carefully prepared a document in which she placed Lattimore's own changes of line in one column and Stalin's changes in another. There were some striking parallels, but Mrs. Uteley was careful not to make any allegations reflecting on Lattimore's patriotism. She let the facts speak for themselves.

Well, when McCarthy came to make political use of Mrs. Uteley's memorandum, he ignored its scientific exactitude. And, in so doing, he exceeded the limits of credibility and thus helped destroy much of his effectiveness as an enemy of Communism.

Just at the moment, Senator

Thomas H. Kuchel of California, a "liberal" Republican, is charging "self-styled" patriotic groups with "terrifying" thousands of Americans with "hoaxes and lies." He particularly attacks the John Birch Society for spreading the libel that John Foster Dulles was a "Communist agent." And the head of the Birch Society, Robert Welch, has been accused of writing worse things about Dulles's boss.

Since I have never seen any Birchite documents alleging that the White House in Eisenhower's time was an open annex of the Kremlin, I can't vouch for the accuracy of Senator Kuchel's own charges. But whether Kuchel is careful of his own evidence or not, this question of the limits of credibility is important. To be effective in politics, anti-leftists should stick to the record.

Taking a tip from the Communists' own tactics, it should be enough for them to say that "so-and-so's position on such-and-such gives aid to Khrushchev." There is no need to say that "so-and-so is a conscious agent of the Kremlin" unless, like the late Whittaker Chambers, they have some incriminating papers hidden in a pumpkin back home.

But others have argued that the state and local bodies will be doing that anyway, so that the taxpayer at least would be about even with where he is now if he could get a cut in his federal outlay.

Either way much of the boost that the administration says a federal tax cut would give the economy would be lost—the taxpayers just wouldn't have much, if any, more money to spend than they have now.

So the U.S. Treasury is preaching patience. It wants Congress to cut federal taxes by some $10 billion. And it wants the state and local governments to hold off raising their rates until the $10 billion percolates through the economy.

The Treasury says in time this would raise the economy by about $40 billion a year. And as a result of better business and higher personal incomes the other governments would profit by getting more revenue even with their present rates. The estimate is that,

with a little patience, the increased business activity would add $1.5 billion to the total revenues of various state governments and $1.4 billion to local government collections.

A lot of state and local bodies could use that money. Their spending has been climbing faster than their collections and they have been borrowing heavily to make up the deficit.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Have you ever had severe symptoms of stomach upset following a dinner party at a restaurant? Did you rush to the phone to check on one or more of the guests to find out if they, too, were ill?

The conversation usually goes like this: "I'm so sick! What did you order, the shrimp or the leg of lamb? I think I've got ptomaine poisoning."

The term "ptomaine poisoning" is incorrectly applied to food poisoning.

It was once thought that ptomaines, the substances found in putrefied food, were the offending agents in food poisoning. Our new medical knowledge reveals that it is not the ptomaines, but the toxins of the saphylococcus bacteria that usually cause food poisoning.

The proper refrigeration of food is the greatest preventative against food poisoning. When refrigeration is not available, fresh foods should be used for each meal.

One word of caution: In warm weather, especially, desserts that contain custard and salads made with mayonnaise dressing deteriorate rapidly and can cause serious gastric upsets. It is wise to remember to keep these particular foods in the refrigerator until just before serving.

Most restaurants are aware of this potential danger, but if you suspect that these foods have not been adequately refrigerated, it is best to avoid them.

The tolerance for spoiled food varies with the individual. One person may get food poisoning from something that does not affect another person.

Housewives often ponder over the problem of whether a particular food is spoiled or contaminated. The safe rule is to discard that food if there is any doubt at all.

Limits of Credibility

By John Chamberlain

Certain pundits, speculating upon the leftward drift in the recent Italian election, are now predicting a wide comeback for European leftist parties in general. They are accepting the probable emergence of Ludwig Erhard, an anti-collectivist, as the next Chancellor of West Germany, but they are nonetheless convincing themselves that Erhard will shortly be succeeded by Willy Brandt, the Socialist Mayor of West Berlin. And they are certain that Harold Wilson, demagogic leader of the British Labor Party, will defeat conservative Harold Macmillan in the next English election.

Since strains evoke counter-strains, it is not at all certain that a clear victory for European socialism is anywhere near in sight. Both Erhard and Macmillan may prove more durable than anyone now supposes. But the forces of those who are opposed to the socialist drift are obviously in for some ticklish days. The leftward lean of European politics will encourage the spiritual cousins of Willy Brandt and Harold Wilson on this side of the ocean, and the "Right" — meaning those who are for the traditional free pattern of American economic life—will have to remain poised on its toes.

To remain effective, the American Right must be particularly careful not to exceed the limits of credibility in the charges it makes when it moves into battle. In the nineteen thirties in New York City, when the Communists were cultivating the so-called "fellow travelers" among the liberals, they used to hold long discussions about the limits of credibility. It was generally agreed among the Communists that the "big lie" didn't matter. Thus they did not boggle over the idiosyncrasy of saying that "Communism is Twentieth Century Americanism." This sort of claim may have been a libel on the United States in general, but it libelled no one in particular.

When it came to libelling individuals, however, the Communists were careful. They did not say that socialist Norman Thomas was a "fascist"; careful of the limits of credibility, they merely said that Thomas's "position" made him "objectively a social fascist." This sort of careful limitation made the Communist position seem sociologically "scientific."

Senator Joe McCarthy, when he came along to do battle with the Left, was singularly oblivious to questions of credibility. At one time he requested a memorandum from Freda Uteley, a one-time Communist sympathizer, on the career of Owen Lattimore. Mrs. Uteley carefully prepared a document in which she placed Lattimore's own changes of line in one column and Stalin's changes in another. There were some striking parallels, but Mrs. Uteley was careful not to make any allegations reflecting on Lattimore's patriotism. She let the facts speak for themselves.

Well, when McCarthy came to make political use of Mrs. Uteley's memorandum, he ignored its scientific exactitude. And, in so doing, he exceeded the limits of credibility and thus helped destroy much of his effectiveness as an enemy of Communism.

Just at the moment, Senator

Thomas H. Kuchel of California, a "liberal" Republican, is charging "self-styled" patriotic groups with "terrifying" thousands of Americans with "hoaxes and lies." He particularly attacks the John Birch Society for spreading the libel that John Foster Dulles was a "Communist agent." And the head of the Birch Society, Robert Welch, has been accused of writing worse things about Dulles's boss.

Since I have never seen any Birchite documents alleging that the White House in Eisenhower's time was an open annex of the Kremlin, I can't vouch for the accuracy of Senator Kuchel's own charges. But whether Kuchel is careful of his own evidence or not, this question of the limits of credibility is important. To be effective in politics, anti-leftists should stick to the record.

Taking a tip from the Communists' own tactics, it should be enough for them to say that "so-and-so's position on such-and-such gives aid to Khrushchev." There is no need to say that "so-and-so is a conscious agent of the Kremlin" unless, like the late Whittaker Chambers, they have some incriminating papers hidden in a pump-kin back home.

Kennedy Fears New Round of Nuclear Tests

Asked if he would endorse the move by white and Negro families in Knoxville, Tenn., to visit each other in their homes, Kennedy said:

"I think it would be very helpful, and you can start right here in Washington, D.C., where this is greatly needed."

Two overseas crises also were discussed:

Kennedy said that while Soviet Premier Khrushchev has reaffirmed a pledge to support a neutral and independent Laos, a recent attack on International Control Commission helicopters by the Pathet Lao "indicates that they are not at the present time living up to this commitment." He said he hopes Khrushchev can do better than that.

Asked if economic or diplomatic sanctions should be used against the Haitian regime of Francois Duvalier, Kennedy said the Organization of American States is doing right by sending a special group that will try to keep peace between the Dominican Republic and neighboring Haiti.

Finally, Kennedy was asked about one potential crisis and still another that is fast fading.

The impact of recent political changes in the Middle East cannot yet be assessed, the President said but the United States will support the security of Israel and her Arab neighbors, try to limit the arms race in the area and discourage Communist penetration.

Kennedy hopes to cover "the entire waterfront" in a weekend conference at Hyannisport, Mass., with Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson. The "waterfront" includes such items as defense, trade, and investment on which Kennedy and Pearson's predecessor, John G. Diefenbaker, were in sharp disagreement.

Apart from race relations, the major domestic topic was Kennedy's recent decision to replace Adm. George W. Anderson as chief of naval operations on Aug. 1.

Kennedy denied that Anderson failed to meet expectations, that he fought Pentagon civilians too vigorously and that his replacement was meant as a warning to others to get in line with the administration.

The President then announced that Anderson has agreed to accept "a position of high responsibility" and said he wouldn't have offered the job "if I did not have the highest confidence in him." The position is believed to be an ambassadorship.

On a related subject, Kennedy was asked about reported disgruntlement of some Pentagon brass at the actions of their civilian bosses.

"Obviously," said Kennedy, "there are bound to be some disappointments with the decision of civilian leaders." But he said the decisions had to be made.

On other topics Kennedy said he:

Hopes for failure of efforts by some groups to make basic changes in the Constitution in order to curb the power of the Supreme Court and make the adoption of constitutional amendments more difficult.

Sees no prospect of Congress passing a substitute feed grains bill if wheat growers reject production curbs in a forthcoming referendum.

Favors foreign aid for a government-owned steel mill in India because India, he said, needs the steel.

Clermont Looks at Itself After Ending Poor Relief

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Clermont County lowered the boom on some 158 area families when it stopped poor relief home care two years ago.

And then a year ago it closed down the medical care portion of the program.

The reason? The county simply ran out of money.

The move made Clermont County the only county in Ohio with relatively no poor relief. Six families still receive a little aid.

"You've got to remember that these people were only getting 50 per cent of what the state terms minimum requirements anyway," says Wayne Oney, county welfare director. "So it wasn't a move from a lot to nothing, but from a little to nothing."

The reliefs continue to get

Indonesia Reds Are Linked to Peking's Brand

WASHINGTON (AP) — High American officials are now counting Indonesia's Communist party — the largest outside of the Iron Curtain countries — in Peking's camp in the leadership dispute between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Authoritative sources said that the switch of Indonesian Reds to the Chinese hard line must be considered one of the major Soviet disappointments of the past year and a cause for a serious reappraisal inside the Kremlin.

The Russians invested up to a billion arms and economic aid for Indonesia in a strong effort to retain influence there.

The development was no source of particular satisfaction to Washington and other non-Communist capitals. Under pressure from the PKI—Partei Komunis Indonesia—Indonesian President Sukarno appears to have veered increasingly away from the neutral foreign policy he had long proclaimed.

U.S. officials were particularly unhappy about a recent African journalists conference which opened with a keynote address by Sukarno. The conference appeared to be under the control of the PKI and ended with a volley of resolutions denouncing the United States in a virtual carbon copy of Peking's sharpest anti-American propaganda charges.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

It was mild over Ohio Wednesday night, and temperatures were the warmest nighttime readings so far this year.

At dawn today, Cleveland reported 71 Toledo and Findlay 69, Chesapeake 67 and Columbus 63.

Mostly fair weather is expected over Ohio today, although there may be a few isolated showers in the northern counties.

Southwesterly winds will continue today but will not be quite as strong as Wednesday's. By afternoon, temperatures will rise into the upper 80s or low 90s.

Little change in the weather pattern is expected over the state tonight and Friday. Low temperatures tonight will again be in the 60s, and afternoon readings Friday will again be unseasonably warm.

surplus commodities, basic foodstuffs, and the outlay of these has been extended since the relief cut-off.

Doctors, druggists, hospitals, social agencies, churches, a utility company and interested individuals rushed in to help.

The suburban rush from Cincinnati, about 15 miles west, doubled the county's population in 10 years. It now stands at about 80,000.

"But we have no industry to pay the taxes," Oney says. "I could count the number of industries in this county on one hand."

Most residents are just too strapped with existing taxes and the higher transportation expenses (since most work in Cincinnati), he says.

"We're just living from day to day," says a member of one of the 158 families whose poor relief checks stopped two years ago. School dropouts plague these families.

With a $5,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Greater Cincinnati Community Health and Welfare Council has undertaken a comprehensive study of these families, interviewing each one.

The results will be filed in Washington this month.

Oney has managed to save a little that could go for relief.

"If we started the relief program on this, we'd have to close again in two months," he explains.

Instead, he's putting it away hoping the legislature will pass enabling legislation to allow Ohio to participate in the federal Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed.

"This would help a lot of these families," he says. "But it means we've got to have some money here to get matching federal funds."

Stray Dog Credited With Saving Life

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—Curtis Gene Riggs, 38, may owe his life to the stray collie he took in several weeks ago.

The dog was with Riggs on his farm near here Tuesday when some plowshares Riggs was hauling on his tractor slipped and pinned a leg against a tractor wheel. He was painfully injured and unable to move.

The dog led rescuers to his master.

Hospital physicians said Riggs might have bled to death had he not been found quickly.

Social Security Benefits Top $2 Million in County

A $2 million payroll was shared by 2993 residents of Pickaway County last year.

Monthly old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits in Pickaway County now top $174,881. E. H. Biedenholz, district manager of the Social Security office in Chillicothe, said today on releasing his annual county benefit data report.

The new monthly figure represents an increase of nine per cent over the corresponding period last year.

"This increase can be attributed to the changes in the law in recent years, as well as to the growth of our aged population," Biedenholz said. "This money stimulates county business; most of it is spent for food, clothing, and shelter. There is no longer any doubt," the district manager said, "Social security benefits are helping to stabilize the income and spending power of many residents in Pickaway County."

The number of social security beneficiaries in Pickaway County exceeds the total number of individuals employed by an employer in this county.

In addition to Pickaway County, the Chillicothe District Office also serves Fayette, Highland, Hocking, Ross, Pike and Vinton counties.

Fayette County receives $134,810 monthly for 2236 beneficiaries; Highland gets $224,701 for 3929; Hocking gets $132,807 for 2239; Ross gets $323,066 for 5448; Pike gets $84,144 for 1628; and Vinton gets $53,381 for 949.

More people in Pickaway County, he said, could draw social security benefits if they knew more about the law, and for that reason they are urged to visit or call the local social security office whenever they have a question concerning their benefits or responsibilities.

As of January 1963, in the nation at large, more than 18 million beneficiaries were receiving payments at the rate of $1.1 billion per month.

The average monthly old-age retirement benefit in January was $76.19 for all states, while in the State of Ohio the average was $80.73, Biedenholz said.

The bald eagle now numbers less than 5,000.

$10 Million Tax Is Due on Estate

CLEVELAND (AP) — Taxes will take more than $10 million of the estate of Mrs. Martha Holden Jennings, but some $23 million still will be left for various charities. Total taxes were set at $10.2 million in an application to determine inheritance tax filed Tuesday with Probate Judge Frank J. Merrick.

Mrs. Jennings, whose husband, Andrew R., was a partner with of International Business Machines Corp., died Aug. 8, 1962, leaving an estate of more than $38 million.

Principal asset of the estate was 83,432 shares of IBM stock worth $31,118,080.

Mrs. Jennings also had $870,248 deposited in Cleveland banks at the time of her death.

$10 Million Tax Is Due on Estate

CLEVELAND (AP) — Taxes will take more than $10 million of the estate of Mrs. Martha Holden Jennings, but some $23 million still will be left for various charities.

Total taxes were set at $10.2 million in an application to determine inheritance tax filed Tuesday with Probate Judge Frank J. Merrick.

Mrs. Jennings, whose husband, Andrew R., was a partner with of International Business Machines Corp., died Aug. 8, 1962, leaving an estate of more than $38 million.

Principal asset of the estate was 83,432 shares of IBM stock worth $31,118,080.

Mrs. Jennings also had $870,248 deposited in Cleveland banks at the time of her death.

Bob Hope House Opens For Cincinnati Youths

CINCINNATI (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope Wednesday helped dedicate a home for youths named for him—the Bob Hope House. It was set up by the county for youths whose offenses don't warrant sterner institutions but who need a period of guidance.

Guild Has Spring Luncheon

The annual Spring Flower Luncheon was held Tuesday by members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 28 at the Pickaway Country Club.

Mrs. Hal Dickinson, chairman, decorated the long luncheon table centered with a beautiful large floral arrangement consisting of tulips and French lilacs from her garden. A pink color scheme predominated.

A card was signed by each member and sent to Mrs. Orion King, a charter member who is ill.

Mrs. Howard Smith, treasurer, reported on the April Auction. Mrs. Orren Stout announced that dishes purchased for the hospital two years ago will be replaced because the colors became indistinct.

Mrs. Dickinson reported on the general guild meeting and discussed the new maternity wing and a special room for the Gift Shop.

Mrs. Chester Blue was welcomed as a new member.

Others attending included, Mrs.

DEAR ONLY: I KNOW a man is not made of wood. (Just his head.) The cute little woman may be "just what the doctor ordered," but she is NOT what fortune dealt you nor what your pastor delivered. Forget her, and try to thaw out your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a factory with many girls. One day last week one of the girls had what she called a "Charlie Horse" in the calf of her leg. Our foreman (a married man of about 55) said his wife got them all the time and he knew how to get rid of them. Well, this girl (she is also married) let the foreman massage her leg! That very evening all the other girls went home on time and the foreman asked this one girl with the "Charlie Horse" to stay. She got an hour's "overtime" pay. What do you think about that?

100-Kiloton Blast Leaves Huge Hole In Desert Floor

NEVADA TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Ten months ago scientists fired a 100-kiloton thermonuclear device buried 625 feet in the earth. In three seconds 12 million tons of soil rose in a mighty upheaval.

The Atomic Energy Commission gave newsmen their first look at the results of the blast Tuesday. On the AEC's test area here they were shown a gigantic hole—1,200 feet across, deep enough to hide a 22-story building. The walls are so steep the only way to get down into it is in a four-wheeled buggy, attached to a cable, which is lowered down a runway of metal mats by a crane.

One big problem: radiation. Workers weren't able to get into the crater until February.

Commissioners Lose Debate Over Budget

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The First District Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered an increase in budget appropriations to Warren County Juvenile and Probate Courts.

Increases amounting to more than $10,000 were ordered in administrative expense appropriations to both courts over what the Warren County board of commissioners had granted.

Robert G. Ray, judge of both Warren Probate and Juvenile Courts, had filed a suit asking the Court of Appeals to order the commissioners to make budget appropriations equal to his requests.

Judge C. Watson Hover, who wrote the opinion, said it is mandatory that commissioners appropriate to probate and juvenile courts and all other courts in the county the exact amount for administrative expenses.

If you find the smoked tongue you buy too salty for your taste, soak it overnight in cold water. After the tongue is cooked, you might enjoy serving it with cooked lentils — a delicious combination.

You'll need about half a pound of shelled Brazil nuts, if you are grinding them, to make 1½ cups.

Tax Expense Rule Brings Headaches

NEW YORK (AP)—Dwindling business blamed mainly on changes in income tax expense account deductions has given the hotel and restaurant industry a king-sized headache.

In addition to eliminating many deductions previously allowed on grounds business was involved, the rules, according to hotel and restaurant people, are so confusing no one is sure what they mean.

Businessmen consequently have put the brakes on expense account spending.

Hardest hit are night clubs and the more expensive eating places — where a customer might be entertained or a deal negotiated — and the big hotels catering to convention crowds.

Unemployment among workers in the industry is steadily rising in many cities.

People are becoming more price conscious. They are ordering cheaper dishes, fewer drinks and looking at the tab more carefully. Some big spenders are becoming little spenders.

The ultra-smart spots with exotic foods, some predict, will have to tone down or go out of business.

Although the new tax regulations are catching most of the blame, other factors are also mentioned by some persons. These include general retrenchment following the stock market decline last year, competition from motels, overbuilding of hotels and increased air travel and super-highway building, making it possible for people to visit other cities and return the same day without an overnight stop.

Complaints that the slump is having a critical effect come from every direction.

"It's hurting, and hurting bad," said a spokesman for the Tennessee Restaurant Association, which reports business off 6 to 15 per cent. "It likely will get worse before it levels off."

"Collapse is a good way to explain it," complained manager Joe B. Callahan of the Benson Hotel in Portland Ore., which has been affected "seriously." "The traveling public no longer bring their wives."

"Restaurants are cutting expenses every place they can — entertainment, food, help, even turning off more lights," said Sherman Billingsley, owner of New York's Stork Club. "The business will never be the same again."

His business is off 30 to 40 per cent and he said half of the restaurants in New York would have to close if their creditors decided to clamp down on overdue food and beverage bills.

In San Francisco, Charles F. Delano, executive vice president of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association, commented:

"Some of our members report losses of 15 to as high as 60 per cent in the first two months this year. Patronage is falling off sharply and its causing layoffs. There's confusion about the tax regulations. Your businessman doesn't really understand."

"Business has been awfully slow," said Chick Hedrick, owner of the Copa Atlanta, a plush night spot in Atlanta, Ga. "We just can't get people out. Everybody says business is off."

$65 Ohio Statue Sold for $18,000

JACKSONVILLE Fla. (AP) — A Jacksonville antique dealer said today she has sold a statue she bought for $65 to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City for $18,000.

In New York, the museum confirmed it had bought the statue but declined to give the purchase price.

Mrs. Mildred Centers recalled that she tried for several months to sell the five-foot wooden figure of St. John the Baptist for about $1,000.

John G. Phillips, curator of western European art for the Metropolitan, said it is believed to be the work of the 17th Century Spanish sculptor Juan Martinez Montanes or one of his assistants. Mrs. Centers, whose husband Roland handles the gun and coin division of their business, said she bought the statue last year in Cincinnati.

Ohio Senate Urged To Alter New Blue Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Senate Judiciary Committee, studying a House-approved bill to ban Sunday sale of real or personal property with exemptions for certain necessities, has been urged to amend it.

Suggestions made at a hearing Wednesday included specific exemption of radio and television stations, "little corner groceries" and car washes, and broadening of what may be sold at filling stations. But Judge Emmett Grabbill of Massillon Municipal Court said the bill is specific enough to clear up some present enforcement problems.

Miss Florence Brown, Miss Nellie Oesterle, Mrs. Hannah Noecker, Mrs. Jessie Buskirk, Mrs. Beatrice Schiff and Mrs. Elsie Beckett enjoyed a Sunday drive to Bellvue where they enjoyed the Sunday noon smorgasbord. In the afternoon they visited Kingwood Gardens and Malabar Farm at Mansfield.

Ashville Girl Scout Troop No. 523 and their leaders, Mrs. Robert Shiwinski and Mrs. James Hafey, enjoyed a hike and picnic supper on the farm of William Cromley, south of Ashville.

The girls played games and sang songs around the camp fire, constructed by one of the troop's patrols. Each patrol had a duty to perform.

Attending were Retha Glyd, Jane Clay, Carla Hafey, Jody Deal, Linda Piester, Ruth Wolfe, Beverly Moody, Brenda Bausum, Carol Sherman, Bonnie Peters, Linda Acord, Linda Noggle, Chris Kulifay, Debbie Flowers, Susan Sabine, Mary McMellon, Margie Watson and Barbara Edwards.

The Ashville - Harrison Volunteer Fire Department was called once again this past week to extinguish grass fires, all caused by passing trains. The three fires were answered Friday morning, Monday morning and Tuesday afternoon. No damage was reported.

The Ashville Methodist Senior

Youth Fellowship met Sunday evening at the home of their leader, Charles Trone. The group enjoyed croquet, followed by a picnic. A business meeting was conducted by John Ridenour, president. Plans were made for a trip to Old Man's Cave during June.

Attending were Glenda Rineholt, Terry Trimble, Dave Sherertz, Ellen Snyder, Sandy Trimble, Mike Wilson, John Ridenour and Rev. William Sherertz.

Mary Jo Guthell, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guthell, Route 1, Lockbourne, was critically burned May 1 when she and her brother, Richard, age 10, were burning trash.

A pressure can containing fuel, was mistakenly thrown in the trash and exploded throwing flames over the child's body. Her brother pushed her down and rolled her trying to extinguish the fire. He received slight burns on his hands.

Mary Jo was rushed to Children's Hospital by Bastian's ambulance where she has remained on the "critical" list. At this time she is confined to an isolation ward and no visitors are allowed.

James Brown, guidance director of Teay's Valley High School,

announced that final District-State Scholarship Tests were administered for 61 TV high school students May 4 at Ohio State University. Results will be announced at a later date.

Panhandle Eastern To Make Gas Refund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. of Kansas City has been ordered by the Federal Power Commission to refund more than $35 million to wholesale natural gas customers in six states, including Ohio.

A spokesman for the commission said the refunds stem from opinions and orders issued April 27, 1961, which Panhandle had appealed to the courts.

Tax Expense Rule Brings Headaches

NEW YORK (AP)—Dwindling business blamed mainly on changes in income tax expense account deductions has given the hotel and restaurant industry a king-sized headache.

In addition to eliminating many deductions previously allowed on grounds business was involved, the rules, according to hotel and restaurant people, are so confusing no one is sure what they mean.

Businessmen consequently have put the brakes on expense account spending.

Hardest hit are night clubs and the more expensive eating places — where a customer might be entertained or a deal negotiated — and the big hotels catering to convention crowds.

Unemployment among workers in the industry is steadily rising in many cities.

People are becoming more price conscious. They are ordering cheaper dishes, fewer drinks and looking at the tab more carefully. Some big spenders are becoming little spenders.

The ultra-smart spots with exotic foods, some predict, will have to tone down or go out of business.

Although the new tax regulations are catching most of the blame, other factors are also mentioned by some persons. These include general retrenchment following the stock market decline last year, competition from motels, overbuilding of hotels and increased air travel and super-highway building, making it possible for people to visit other cities and return the same day without an overnight stop.

Complaints that the slump is having a critical effect come from every direction.

"It's hurting, and hurting bad," said a spokesman for the Tennessee Restaurant Association, which reports business off 6 to 15 per cent. "It likely will get worse before it levels off."

"Collapse is a good way to explain it," complained manager Joe B. Callihan of the Benson Hotel in Portland Ore., which has been affected "seriously." "The traveling people no longer bring their wives."

"Restaurants are cutting expenses every place they can — entertainment, food, help, even turning off more lights," said Sherman Billingsley, owner of New York's Stork Club. "The business will never be the same again."

His business is off 30 to 40 per cent and he said half of the restaurants in New York would have to close if their creditors decided to clamp down on overdue food and beverage bills.

In San Francisco, Charles F. Delano, executive vice president of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association, commented:

"Some of our members report losses of 15 to as high as 60 per cent in the first two months this year. Patronage is falling off sharply and its causing layoffs. There's confusion about the tax regulations. Your businessman doesn't really understand."

"Business has been awfully slow," said Chick Hedrick, owner of the Copa Atlanta, a plush night spot in Atlanta, Ga. "We just can't get people out. Everybody says business is off."

$65 Ohio Statue Sold for $18,000

JACKSONVILLE Fla. (AP) — A Jacksonville antique dealer said today she has sold a statue she bought for $65 to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City for $18,000.

In New York, the museum confirmed it had bought the statue but declined to give the purchase price.

Mrs. Mildred Centers recalled that she tried for several months to sell the five-foot wooden figure of St. John the Baptist for about $1,000.

John G. Phillips, curator of western European art for the Metropolitan, said it is believed to be the work of the 17th Century.

Spanish sculptor Juan Martinez Montanes or one of his assistants, Mrs. Centers, whose husband Rolland handles the gun and coin division of their business, said she bought the statue last year in Cincinnati.

Ohio Senate Urged

To Alter New Blue Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Senate Judiciary Committee, studying a House-approved bill to ban Sunday sale of real or personal property with exemptions for certain necessities, has been urged to amend it.

Suggestions made at a hearing Wednesday included specific exemption of radio and television stations, "little corner groceries" and car washes, and broadening of what may be sold at filling stations. But Judge Emmett Grabbill of Massillon Municipal Court said the bill is specific enough to clear up some present enforcement problems.

Miss Florence Brown, Miss Nelle Oesterle, Mrs. Hannah Noecker, Mrs. Jessie Buskirk, Mrs. Beatrice Schiff and Mrs. Elsie Beckett enjoyed a Sunday drive to Bellvue where they enjoyed the Sunday noon smorgasbord. In the afternoon they visited Kingwood Gardens and Malabar Farm at Mansfield.

Ashville Girl Scout Troop No. 523 and their leaders, Mrs. Robert Sliwinski and Mrs. James Hafez, enjoyed a hike and picnic supper on the farm of William Cromley, south of Ashville.

The girls played games and sang songs around the camp fire, constructed by one of the troop's patrols. Each patrol had a duty to perform.

Attending were Retha Gloyd, Jane Clay, Carla Hafez, Jody Deal, Linda Piester, Ruth Wolfe, Beverly Moody, Brenda Baum, Carol Sherman, Bonnie Peters, Linda Acord, Linda Noggle, Chris Kulifay, Debbie Flowers, Susan Sabine, Mary McMellon, Margie Watson and Barbara Edwards.

The Ashville - Harrison Volunteer Fire Department was called once again this past week to extinguish grass fires, all caused by passing trains. The three fires were answered Friday morning, Monday morning and Tuesday afternoon. No damage was reported.

The Ashville Methodist Senior

Youth Fellowship met Sunday evening at the home of their leader, Charles Trone. The group enjoyed croquet, followed by a picnic. A business meeting was conducted by John Ridenour, president. Plans were made for a trip to Old Man's Cave during June.

Attending were Glenda Rineholt, Terry Trimble, Dave Sherertz, Ellen Snyder, Sandy Trimble, Mike Wilson, John Ridenour and Rev. William Sherertz.

Mary Jo Guthell, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guthell, Route 1, Lockbourne, was critically burned May 1 when she and her brother, Richard, age 10, were burning trash.

A pressure can containing fuel, was mistakenly thrown in the trash and exploded throwing flames over the child's body. Her brother pushed her down and rolled her trying to extinguish the fire. He received slight burns on his hands.

Mary Jo was rushed to Children's Hospital by Bastian's ambulance where she has remained on the "critical" list. At this time she is confined to an isolation ward and no visitors are allowed.

James Brown, guidance director of Teay's Valley High School,

announced that final District-State Scholarship Tests were administered for 61 TV high school students May 4 at Ohio State University. Results will be announced at a later date.

Women of FB Brave Elements For Tour at Kingwood Center

Pickaway County Farm Bureau Women just about had Kingwood Center at Mansfield to themselves on April 29. And no wonder! The temperature was 32 degrees. It was rainy and windy. Raincoats, plastic scarves, umbrellas and rubbers made up the uniform of the day. But not one of the 39 bus passengers who went on the planned tour was deterred. enjoyment-wise, by the weather.

The Pickaway County farm group saw daffodils at their prime. They missed, however, most of the extensive plantings of tulips which will be in bloom about the middle of May.

These tulip bulbs are a gift to the center from The Netherlands. The stipulation is that they must neither be sold or given away after one season of bloom. They must be destroyed.

EACH FALL the new bulbs for spring display arrive and are planted at Kingwood.

It is a different matter with daffodils. These are naturalized in the woods and planted in big drifts in the flower borders. Our understanding is that these perennial bulbs are left to increase year after year.

Kingwood, once the home and private estate of a Mansfield industrialist, was given to the city as a cultural and garden center. Greenhouses are open to the public the year round. Kingwood Hall may be visited from Monday through Friday except holidays from Easter through November. The gardens, open from 8 a. m. to sundown from April through November, are free also.

Seasonal displays of wildflowers, daffodils, tulips, peonies, day-lilies, summer annuals, glads, dahlias and chrysanthemums make a tour of Kingwood worthwhile at any time during the growing season.

Kingwood guides women from Mansfield garden clubs serve in this capacity met the bus and the Pickaway County group was given a choice of spending the entire time in the greenhouse or strolling through the gardens. Despite wind and drizzle most of the women chose to walk through the extensive gardens.

KINGWOOD has an excellent system of labeling. Many of the group had notebooks and pencils ready to jot down names of plants.

Daffodils queened it over the gardens on April 29. Nevertheless many other flowers added interest to the overall picture. At the entrance gate a low planting of primroses caught the eye of the visitors.

Many tulips were in bloom. There were hyacinths, plantings of creeping phlox, colonies of dwarf iris, forgetmenots and a few guinea-hen flowers or checkered lilies.

Grape hyacinths were planted in profusion. One variety was a pure hue of true blue.

The greenhouse was a riot of exciting color. If one entered at the proper door one was introduced to the exhibit room slowly.

There were seed flats and potted seedlings in the first greenhouse. Here a system of automatic watering gave a misty spray of moisture every four minutes.

AND JUDGING from the display greenhouse a fine mist is what plants want. Forced spring bulbs, tulips, Easter lilies, glaxias, orchids, geraniums, flowering maples and big pots of schizanthus of every hue were on exhibit.

Small trees if fuchsia, lantana and heliotrope were potted and blooming ready to move out to the formal gardens. These little trees were about four feet high.

A bird-of-paradise plant was in bloom. The blossoms were carried on five-foot stems.

A tour of the chateau, formerly the King mansion, was a high-point of the day. A library made up of horticultural books is an interesting feature of the center. The books may be borrowed as in an ordinary library.

Each room of the mansion had an arrangement of garden flowers. The arrangers, we were told, pre-

Writer Is at Odds With Rose Voting

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

Can 400,000 women be wrong? Yes, says this Garden Page editor. In our estimation they can be dead wrong.

They can be and they are if, as a recent release states, they have gone on record as wishing to make the rose the National Floral Emblem of the United States.

And this they seem to have done according to Louise Ballard of Lake Junalusca, N. C., projects chairman of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, which is 400,000 strong in 49 states and lists 3,000 affiliates.

A RESOLUTION to make the rose our National Flower has been introduced in Congress by Congressman Lindley Beekworth.

Now the National Council of State Garden Clubs is our own outfit. It is a powerful and active influence for the good. But where, we asked, is its sense of fitness, where is their knowledge of American History, where is the feeling of symbolism?

Already 13 other countries have selected the rose as their National Emblem.

Granted the rose is the most beautiful flower under Heaven! Granted that the rose is an overwhelming favorite! But neither of these attributes make it worthy to be our National Floral Emblem.

The rose is symbolic of luxury, the favorite of royalty. It is not a plant of vigor. It is a pampered darling — prey to every disease, insect and weather vagary, that may strike.

Shall we effect such a plant to

Garden Gossip

Mrs. Leroy Newlon, Route 3, says she has a cut leafed philodendron which has grown to the ceiling. She says it has reached the nuisance stage.

Mrs. Turney Pontius suggested that Mrs. Newlon start a new plant by the air layering method. Place some damp sphagnum moss at a joint of the plant and tie a plastic covering over the moss. In a few weeks, new roots will have grown and the new plant may be severed from the parent plant.

Mrs. S. M. Cryder says her specialty is coral bells. She says she just digs a hole and plants a young one. It grows and blooms. She plans to have coral bells all around her lot some day.

Mrs. Cryder has had excellent luck with her roses. She never sprays or dusts. The roses take care of themselves.

We were cruel enough to tell Mrs. Cryder that this state of affairs won't last forever. You've got to work at it to have consistently healthy roses over the years.

Mrs. Cryder is a casual gardener. This we loved. It's refreshing to meet a dig-a-hole-and-plant gardener.

M. E. Noggle, Union St., rosiarian, insists that's all there is to growing roses. "Dig a hole and plant 'em" he says. But we know better. The Noggle roses get the best of scientific care.

Mrs. John Eshelman, N. Pickaway St., has sweet violets. This is an old fashioned flower and one much loved by former generations. They are out of style at present — unfortunately! We hope Mrs. Eshelman will start a trend for sweet violets.

Everytime I can I drive my husband past the John Eshelman home. "Now look at the Eshelman planting," I say, "Why can't we do that?"

Mrs. R. R. Bales had to prune her tree peonies very severely after the hard winter. But they made it through the ordeal. These are rare, old and beautiful plants. Mrs. Bales lives at 207 E. Main.

Mrs. Kirby Drake kept her fern leafed peony well covered during the recent frosty nights. The early blooming fern leafed peonies are prone to late frosts.

Walter and Fred Fee, orchardists, have a liking for roses as well as fruit trees. They are pessimistic about the rose crop. They believe that much of the new growth in roses is from below the graft. They have not yet pruned theirs.

Mrs. David Craven, Lynwood, says that she takes charge of the spraying operations in her garden. And she is very careful.

Rachel Carson's book, "Silent Spring" has made everybody feel more concern about the use of sprays. While pesticides are necessary great care and much precaution should be employed.

At a program committee meeting of the Pickaway County Garden Club recently Mrs. James Stallings said that in Virginia flower lovers were unnecessarily greedy about picking flowers along the roadside. She agreed with Mrs. John Eshelman that a conservation list should be printed in the club program. In this way garden-minded persons will be aware of plants on the list.

We immediately asked about wild crabapple. We were guilty of stopping along the road to break off a few branches of this most enchanting of all wildlings. We felt better when we found out it was not included in the things needing protection.

Wild crabapple is an exquisite pink and has the most delightful fragrance.

Mrs. L. E. Foreman, 142 Park Place, has had lilacs in profusion this spring.

Lilacs do not seem to have behaved consistently this year. Some bushes have rather sparse bloom while others are full of blossoms.

It is my observation that the redbud has not been as full of bloom or as colorful this year. I have not been in localities where there is a great deal of redbud. And I hope I am mistaken.

Last year red bud trees bloomed very sparsely all over the state.

The Burt Cooks have tree roses. Each fall the trees are buried to protect them against the winter. The Cooks live on S. Pickaway St.

Lyall Cryder, a neighbor of the Cooks, said she had missed the rose tree burial but she was going

Flower Found Again after Many Years

Some 25 years ago (confidentially it may have been 30) we encountered a charming and beautiful flower in a garden in Bloomfield Hills, Mich. It was called Sensation. From that summer to this day we have never seen this flower.

As we recall it was about two feet high with glloxinia flowered spikes of large tubular blossoms. Colors were red, pink, rose, lavender and purple with interesting contrasts in the throats of the flowers.

The plants had been purchased at a little roadside market and they were not hard to take care of.

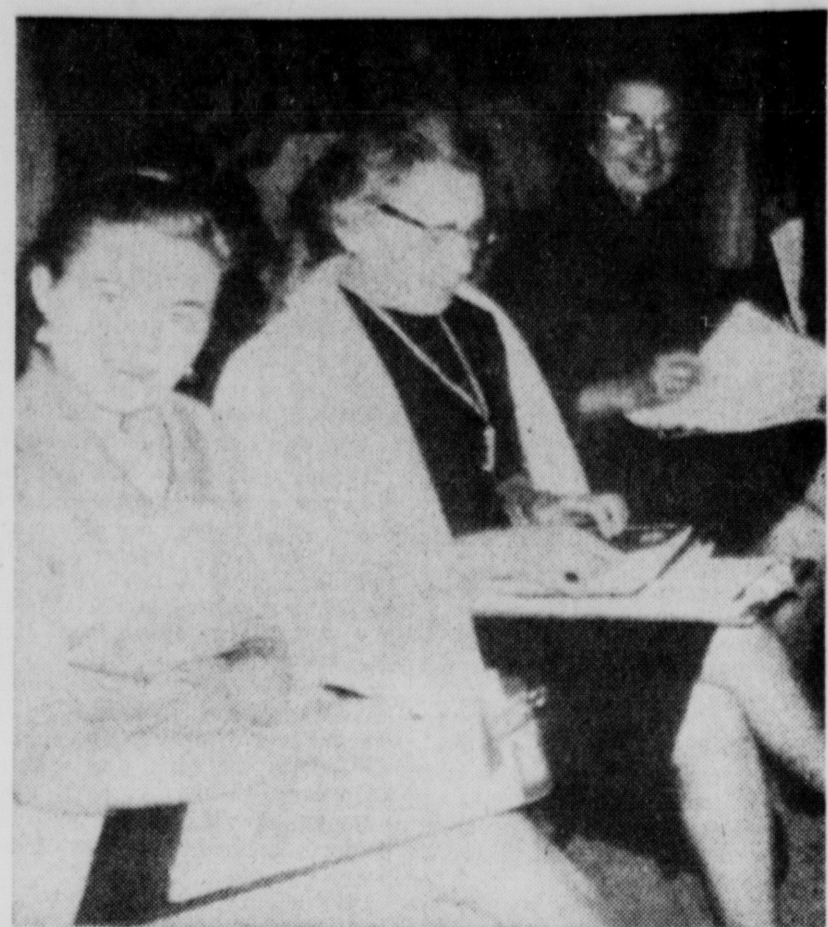

About five years ago we came across some flowers in a seed catalogue called Sensation Penstemon. We sent for the seeds. They did not even germinate. But we felt sure we had re-discovered the beautiful flower we had seen in Bloomfield Hills.

ABOUT THREE years ago we gave up on the seed but asked some green-thumbed friends to do the planting. They had no luck.

This year we took the seeds to Brehmer Greenhouse and warned Mr. Brehmer that they were difficult seeds and he might have trouble with their germination.

In about three weeks the Greenhouse called to say that every seed had germinated and there were about 500 young plants. We ordered 24.

According to Brehmers, these are a perennials but will bloom the first summer.

Crown Imperial Is Not Wildling

Crown Imperial grows about two feet high and has yellow red flowers at the top of a lily-like stalk.

The cluster of flowers is curiously marked. There is a small black dot at the base of each petal of the bell-like blossoms.

They bloom in May. They are frequently seen in old gardens.

They live for many years but are said to be capricious bloomers. They will grow in shade. They are partial to rich deep humus.

Their botanical name is Fritillaria Imperialis.

Ralph Amey found a crown imperial growing in a wild state. We were interested but believe it to have been an escapee from an old garden.

The United States' catch of lobsters in 1962 was 3,500,000 pounds.

Small Flower At Kingwood Is Snowflake

Some Pickaway County visitors were interested in the table arrangement of spring flowers which graced the diningroom at Kingwood Hall at Kingwood Center in Mansfield.

They were specially curious about a small bell-like white flower with a green spot on each petal. This flower is known as summer snowflake or Leucojum aestivum.

It's a first cousin to the snowdrop or Leucojum vernum which is a short six inch flower that blooms even before the crocus appears.

Because of long stems snowflakes are used with pleasure by arrangers in their spring bouquets. They bloom in May and have a blooming period of two or three weeks.

PLANT bulbs in September or October in sunny or partially shady locations. Any reasonably good garden soil will suffice. Good drainage is also recommended by experts — at least reasonably good drainage.

This bulb lasts a long time without pampering. It is a charming graceful plant. You'll like it for your garden and in arrangements. But it not a showy plant.

to try to be present for the resurrection. This event will soon be taking place.

Writer Is at Odds With Rose Voting

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES Can 400,000 women be wrong? Yes, says this Garden Page editor. In our estimation they can be dead wrong.

They can be and they are if, as a recent release states, they have gone on record as wishing to make the rose the National Floral Emblem of the United States.

And this they seem to have done according to Louise Ballard of Lake Junalusca, N. C., projects chairman of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, which is 400,000 strong in 49 states and lists 3,000 affiliates.

A RESOLUTION to make the rose our National Flower has been introduced in Congress by Congressman Lindley Beckworth.

Now the National Council of State Garden Clubs is our own outfit. It is a powerful and active influence for the good. But where, we asked, is its sense of fitness, where is their knowledge of American History, where is the feeling of symbolism?

Already 13 other countries have selected the rose as their National Emblem.

Granted the rose is the most beautiful flower under Heaven! Granted that the rose is an overwhelming favorite! But neither of these attributes make it worthy to be our National Floral Emblem.

The rose is symbolic of luxury, the favorite of royalty. It is not a plant of vigor. It is a pampered darling — prey to every disease, insect and weather vagary, that may strike.

Shall we elect such a plant to symbolize our nation?

WHEN the National Council of State Garden Clubs voted on the rose members surely must have done so unthinkingly. They could not possibly have regarded the rose as a fitting symbol for the noble struggle that went into the building of our nation.

We recollect when our own club (an affiliate of National Council) voted on the National Flower, Pickaway County Garden Club was in favor of the rose.

The subject was introduced by the president. There was a half-minute discussion. The rose, an overwhelming favorite with all gardeners, won.

We have no doubt that the matter was disposed of as quickly in all the clubs throughout the nation.

To change her mind is a woman's prerogative. Rather than vote for a totally inappropriate National Flower maybe we can admit our mistake.

Let us wield our immense power — What National Council Wants National Council gets — more wisely, more fittingly than to vote unthinkingly for the prettiest and most popular flower.

Garden Gossip

Mrs. Leroy Newlon, Route 3, says she has a cut leafed philodendron which has grown to the ceiling. She says it has reached the nuisance stage.

Mrs. Turney Pontius suggested that Mrs. Newlon start a new plant by the air layering method. Place some damp sphagnum moss at a joint of the plant and tie a plastic covering over the moss. In a few weeks, new roots will have grown and the new plant may be severed from the parent plant.

Mrs. S. M. Cryder says her specialty is coral bells. She says she just digs a hole and plants a young one. It grows and blooms. She plans to have coral bells all around her lot some day.

Mrs. Cryder has had excellent luck with her roses. She never sprays or dusts. The roses take care of themselves.

We were cruel enough to tell Mrs. Cryder that this state of affairs won't last forever. You've got to work at it to have consistently healthy roses over the years.

Mrs. Cryder is a casual gardener. This we loved. It's refreshing to meet a dig-a-hole-and-plant gardener.

M. E. Noggle, Union St., rosarian, insists that's all there is to growing roses. "Dig a hole and plant 'em" he says. But we know better. The Noggle roses get the best of scientific care.

Mrs. John Eshelman, N. Pickaway St., has sweet violets. This is an old fashioned flower and one much loved by former generations. They are out of style at present — unfortunately! We hope Mrs. Eshelman will start a trend for sweet violets.

Give Mom Plant On Mother's Day

Why not give a plant or tree for Mother's Day that not only will flower this year but for many years to come?

Some trees are sold with identification tags, such as "to Mother from the children, Mother's Day, 1963." These flowering trees, planted by the whole family, provide not only a delightful memory but trees that will flower every year for many years.

It needn't be only a tree, but might be a rose, or other flowering shrubs that thrive in the particular climate where planted, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Either for Mother's or Father's Day, the latter in June, fruit trees may be planted.

OR the family might provide a properly designed and planted outdoor living room for family enjoyment.

Nurseries specialize in all kinds of better plants for home planting, including typical house plants.

Most of these plants have not been "forced," and they can be replanted to give pleasure for many years.

Everytime I can I drive my husband past the John Eshelman home. "Now look at the Eshelman planting," I say, "Why can't we do that?"

Mrs. R. R. Bales had to prune her tree peonies very severely after the hard winter. But they made it through the ordeal. These are rare, old and beautiful plants. Mrs. Bales lives at 207 E. Main.

Mrs. Kirby Drake kept her fern leafed peony well covered during the recent frosty nights. The early blooming fern leafed peonies are prone to late frosts.

Walter and Fred Fee, orchardists, have a liking for roses as well as fruit trees. They are pessimistic about the rose crop. They believe that much of the new growth in roses is from below the graft. They have not yet pruned theirs.

Mrs. David Craven, Lynwood, says that she takes charge of the spraying operations in their garden. And she is very careful.

Rachel Carson's book, "Silent Spring" has made everybody feel more concern about the use of sprays. While pesticides are necessary great care and much precaution should be employed.

At a program committee meeting of the Pickaway County Garden Club recently Mrs. James Stallings said that in Virginia flower lovers were unnecessarily greedy about picking flowers along the roadside. She agreed with Mrs. John Eshelman that a conservation list should be printed in the club program. In this way garden-minded persons will be aware of plants on the list.

We immediately asked about wild crabapple. We were guilty of stopping along the road to break off a few branches of this most enchanting of all wildlings. We felt better when we found out it was not included in the things needing protection.

Wild crabapple is an exquisite pink and has the most delightful fragrance.

Mrs. L. E. Foreman, 142 Park Place, has had lilacs in profusion this spring.

Lilacs do not seem to have behaved consistently this year. Some bushes have rather sparse bloom while others are full of blossoms.

It is my observation that the redbud has not been as full of bloom or as colorful this year. I have not been in localities where there is a great deal of redbud. And I hope I am mistaken.

Last year red bud trees bloomed very sparsely all over the state.

The Burt Cooks have tree roses. Each fall the trees are buried to protect them against the winter. The Cooks live on S. Pickaway St.

Lyall Cryder, a neighbor of the Cooks, said she had missed the rose tree burial but she was going

Flower Found Again after Many Years

Some 25 years ago (confidentially it may have been 30) we encountered a charming and beautiful flower in a garden in Bloomfield Hills, Mich. It was called Sensation. From that summer to this day we have never seen this flower.

As we recall it was about two feet high with gloxinia flowered spikes of large tubular blossoms. Colors were red, pink, rose, lavender and purple with interesting contrasts in the throats of the flowers.

The plants had been purchased at a little roadside market and they were not hard to take care of.

About five years ago we came across some flowers in a seed catalogue called Sensation Penstemon. We sent for the seeds. They did not even germinate. But we felt sure we had re-discovered the beautiful flower we had seen in Bloomfield Hills.

ABOUT THREE years ago we gave up on the seed but asked some green-thumbed friends to do the planting. They had no luck.

This year we took the seeds to Brehmer Greenhouse and warned Mr. Brehmer that they were difficult seeds and he might have trouble with their germination.

In about three weeks the Greenhouse called to say that every seed had germinated and there were about 500 young plants. We ordered 24.

According to Brehmers, these are perennials but will bloom the first summer.

Small Flower At Kingwood Is Snowflake

Some Pickaway County visitors were interested in the table arrangement of spring flowers which graced the diningroom at Kingwood Hall at Kingwood Center in Mansfield.

They were specially curious about a small bell-like white flower with a green spot on each petal. This flower is known as summer snowflake or Leucojum aestivum.

It's a first cousin to the snowdrop or Leucojum vernum which is a short six inch flower that blooms even before the crocus appears.

Because of long stems snowflakes are used with pleasure by arrangers in their spring bouquets. They bloom in May and have a blooming period of two or three weeks.

PLANT bulbs in September or October in sunny or partially shady locations. Any reasonably good garden soil will suffice. Good drainage is also recommended by experts — at least reasonably good drainage.

This bulb lasts a long time without pampering. It is a charming graceful plant. You'll like it for your garden and in arrangements. But it not a showy plant.

to try to be present for the resurrection. This event will soon be taking place.

FLOWER SHOW PRACTICE — School was in session April 22, 23 and 24 for flower show judges of the National Council of State Garden Clubs. Pictured here at the serious business of taking notes on the horticultural lecture presented by Mrs. James Searles of Kirkwood, Mo., are, from the left, Pickaway County Garden Club members Mrs. Kenneth Hannan, student, and Mrs. Oscar Root and Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart already Nationally accredited flower show judges. Mrs. Root and Mrs. Barnhart took the examination in point scoring in order to renew their certificates.

Crown Imperial Is Not Wildling

Crown Imperial grows about two feet high and has yellow red flowers at the top of a lily-like stalk.

The cluster of flowers is curiously marked. There is a small black dot at the base of each petal of the bell-like blossoms.

They bloom in May. They are frequently seen in old gardens.

They live for many years but are said to be capricious bloomers. They will grow in shade. They are partial to rich deep humus. Their botanical name is Fritillaria Imperialis.

Ralph Amey found a crown imperial growing in a wild state. We were interested but believe it to have been an escapee from an old garden.

The United States' catch of lobster in 1962 was 3,500,000 pounds.

Monroe Dumped From Tourney By Licking Unit

Four Errors in 7th Prove Costly to Pickaway County Nine

Monroe High School's baseball team was the last county nine to be dumped from Central District tournament when they lost yesterday to Licking Heights, 5-3.

The loss was the first of the year for the Indians, putting their record at 10-1. Coach Dick Everman's charges won the Pickaway County tournament crown and have all but cinched the league title.

Four costly errors in the top of the seventh, combined with one walk and two hits provided the winning margin. The host team scored three runs in the final inning.

The other two runs for the winners came in the sixth inning when Monroe hurler Randy Richardson walked three men and was touched for two hits.

THE LOCAL nine scored single runs in the first, sixth and seventh innings.

With only one out, a runner at third and the game tying run on first base, Jewell, Licking Heights relief pitcher, set down the next two Monroe batters on strikeouts to preserve the win for McDonald.

Sparks doubled in the bottom of the second inning, driving in an Indian run for the only extra base hit for the Pickaway Countians. e Besides turning in the last inning relief stint, Jewell paced the winners at bat with a pair of singles and a double. He drove in two runs in the seventh inning. Richardson went the route for Monroe, allowing only five hits.

Tonight the Indians host the Jackson Wildcats as they attempt to wrap up the league title. They have a game set at Logan Elm May 16. Coach Dick Everman currently is trying to set up a tilt with Teays Valley for May 22.

Baseball Teams Trim Rosters for Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS With former Detroit ace Frank Lary heading the list, more than a score of ballplayers were heading for the minor leagues today, victims of the annual May roster trimming in the majors.

By noon, Eastern Daylight Time, all major league clubs were required to be down to the 25-man player limit. The big league rosters will remain at that figure until Sept. 1 when the limit is eased again.

By far the most active of the teams was the Tigers, pre-season picks as American League contenders who have been struggling to avoid last place. Much of the Detroit problem has been due to the inability of Lary to approach the form that made him one of the top right-handers in the league. Hampered by a sore arm last season and rusty because of limited work this year Lary heads to Knoxville of the South Atlantic League to try to pitch his way back in shape.

The Tigers also recalled third baseman Don Wert and pitcher Mickey Lolich from Syracuse, while sending that International League club pitcher Bob Dustal and outfielder Purnal Goldy, both on 24-hour recall.

Some of the other "name" players involved in the cutdowns were outfielder Willie Tasby of Cleveland, optioned to Jacksonville of the International League right-hander Eli Grba of the Los Angeles Angels, sent to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League; and veteran catcher Hank Foiles, released by the Cincinnati Reds.

Senators Show Fine Pitching, Hitting in Win

Rudolph Is Perfect For Over 8 Innings; Lock Gets Slammer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Don Rudolph turned in an amazing pitching performance and Don Lock hit a grand slam homer in the 13th inning for a 6-3 Senator victory over Cleveland in Washington Wednesday night.

Rudolph allowed only one hit—a single by Tony Martinez in the fourth inning—until the 13th when he began to tire.

In between he retired 25 Indians in a row—the equivalent of pitching 8-13 innings of perfect ball. He wound up with a four-hitter. While Rudolph was turning in his masterpiece the Chicago White Sox broke one up, shelling Kansas City's Ed Rakow for eight runs in the seventh inning after he had pitched perfect ball for six innings. The 8-3 triumph over the A's moved the White Sox into the American League lead.

Baltimore belted Boston 10-4 and knocked the Red Sox out of first place. Al Kaline's two-run ninth inning homer gave Detroit a 7-6 decision over the New York Yankees and Ken Hunt's tie-breaking homer provided the Los Angeles Angels with a 4-3 triumph over Minnesota.

National League leading San Francisco crushed Milwaukee 12-5, the Los Angeles Dodgers walloped St. Louis 11-5, Chicago's Cubs whipped Pittsburgh 9-5, Cincinnati edged Houston 3-2 and the New York Mets defeated Philadelphia 3-2.

The White Sox put together their eight-run outburst on six hits, three walks and two errors. Eddie Fisher went the distance for the victory, although tagged for a ninth inning homer by Norm Siebern.

The Orioles lashed 17 hits while Steve Barber managed to keep 12 Red Sox hits well spaced. Brooks Robinson led the Baltimore attack with three singles and a double and Jim Gentile chipped in with a homer.

Kaline cracked his homer off reliever Jim Bouton after Norm the ninth. Tom Tresh had put the Yankees ahead 6-5 in the seventh inning with his second homer of the night. Yogi Berra and Clete Boyer also homered for New York while Jake Wood connected twice and Bubba Phillips once for Detroit.

Hunt's eighth inning homer off Jim Kaat snapped a 3-3 tie, gave the Angels the three-game series, two games to one and dropped the Twins into last place.

ANOTHER HUDEPOHL SPORTS PRESENTATION

That's my opinion ...what's yours?

BY ED KENNEDY

There's a tendency to misplace the blame for the travesty this year over the balk rule. National League President, Warren Giles, has been wearing the hat for instructing his umpires to apply the letter of the law. Some umpires, more conscientious or courageous than others, have been equally discomfited. Mr. Giles' latest instruction declares a moratorium on the rule, but it would be wrong to conclude that he's eating crow.

At issue is baseball rule 8.05 (m): "If there is a runner or runners, it is a balk when the pitcher delivers the pitch from Set Position without coming to a stop of one full second." Giles didn't write that; it was inserted when the rules were amended in 1949.

Ask a track coach: the man doesn't live who can consistently call a split second. In fact, it takes a good man to call a proper fraction even after using a stop watch. As a one time top-flight football official, Giles knows this. He also knows that baseball is not played by the clock, and any reference to "time" in the rules is misplaced. He further knows that concentration is the key to pitching, and any pitcher who distracts himself to say, "One thousand and one" — the standard count for one second — is liable to have his next pitch walloped 1,001 miles.

One way to get rid of this silly rule was to show that it hasn't been and can't be enforced. I suspect that Warren Giles set out to rid the game of some bad legislation. He must be given credit for initiating the move to expunge an absolutely unenforceable regulation.

"It's in the book" didn't make rule 8.05 (m) correct, and Giles had to show it up to shove it out. That's my opinion ... What's yours??????

Washington, C. H. with 29½, Greenfield with 24½ was in sixth, Pleasant View with 21 and Hillsboro with 3 rounded out the scoring.

The annual event saw five new records set, with Circleville's Jimmie Wood turning blazing to a league record breaking 20.15 in the low hurdles.

Called one of the top individual performers in the meet by Wilmington coach Paul Maples, the Tiger sophomore hurdling sensation also won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.3, just one-tenth of a second off the record.

LARRY HANNAHS, now a member of the Iowa State football squad, and a graduate of Circleville, owns the high hurdle record of 15.2. He held the low hurdle record prior to Wood's performance last night.

The slender Tiger timber topper also placed fifth in the broad jump.

Larry Graves of Franklin Heights won the broad jump with a record breaking leap of 21-feet, 5½-inches, while his teammate Allen McHugh established a new mark in the high jump clearing 6-feet, 1 3/4 inches.

Setting a new Circleville school record and placing second in the high jump was George Trego, who cleared 5-feet, 11 1/8 inches.

The other record in field events was set by Miami Trace's Carl Weaver with 11-feet, 6 3/4 inches

Golfers Set For District, League Play

With Central District Golf competition tomorrow and the South Central League meet slated Saturday the Circleville High School golf team has eased off on practice this week, according to Coach Bob Ransom.

Monday they copped a practice event at Wilmington 15-5. It was a five man affair with Tom Bivens Shooting at 39, Tim Dickinson, a 38, Bruce Helwagen a 44, Bob Fuhrman a 39, and Chuck Smith a 43.

Low man for Wilmington and showing promise of being a top contender for medalist honors in the league meet was John Cowgill who had a 36.

Tuesday the second foursome, composed of Richard Furman, Chuck Smith, Dick Patrick, John Wardell and George Grigg downed Miami Trace in a practice match. Fuhrman shot a 43, Smith a 45, Patrick a 46, Wardell a 48 and Grigg a 49.

District tournament drawings are slated for 4:30 this afternoon and the event will start early tomorrow morning. The league meet will begin at 9 a. m. at the Pickaway Country Club Saturday.

The American League had ten 20-game winners in 1920, as many as it has had in the past six years put together.

going down in the books as the all time top effort in league competition.

The other mark set in the meet was in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay won by Pleasant View in 1:03.2.

TIGER COACH Carl Benhase reported he was well pleased with the performances of his cindermen in the meet and singled out Carl Zehner's third place time of 4:52 as the most improved effort. Zehner's previous best time had been 5:01.3.

Circleville placed in 12 of the 15 events and was in contention for the meet until the final three running events. Jay Birmingham, Wilmington's double winner in the 880 yard run and the mile, cinched the meet victory when his first in the 880 placed the Hurricane score out of reach of Circleville.

Paul Maples, a veteran of nine years in the South Central Ohio League, called the meet one of the best he had witnessed although times in the running events were not quite as fast as he had anticipated.

"It was undoubtedly the best crop of hurdlers that has come out of the league since I've been here," the Wilmington mentor reported. "There were four top performers, including Wood, Trego and Graves in both of the races."

Tom McDonald tripped over the last hurdle in the shuttle relay race, injuring his knee. But the Tiger team still managed a fourth in the event.

Tiger senior captain Tim Mogan, slowed by a pulled leg muscle recently, did not compete in the meet.

Jackson Rallies In Late Innings For 8-7 Win

Jackson High School trailed Williamsport 7-2 going into the sixth inning, but scored six runs in the final two frames yesterday to to down the Deers, 8-7.

It marked the first county loop win for the Wildcats. Williamsport nine is sporting a 1-3-1 record in the league.

Two errors and two hits started the Jackson rally in the sixth inning, providing three runs.

In the top of the seventh, an error and a walk set the stage for Ed Martindale's two RBI double. A single and a sacrifice hit brought Martindale home with the winning run.

NEIL COLEMAN worked on the mound for the winners, giving up four walks and striking out six.

Martindale started for the winners, walking four and fanning three. He was relieved in the bottom of the fifth by Meredith O'Dell.

Tonight Williamsport hosts Logan Elm while the Jackson nine travels to Monroe in league competition.

Plate Work Pays Off for Redleg '9'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Catcher Johnny Edwards and pitcher Joe Nuxhall combined slick pitching, timely hitting and great plate work as the Cincinnati Reds defeated Houston 3-2 Wednesday night and moved into seventh place in the National League.

Edwards drove in two runs on one of his two hits, boosting his batting average to .364 with 20 RBIs. He also put out two runners at the plate in hectic action. Nuxhall (2-1) scattered seven hits to win over Bob Bruce, who left the game in the seventh for a pinch hitter. He also allowed seven safeties and he struck out eight Reds.

Leo Cardenas led off the Reds' half of the first inning with a triple and scored on a fly to left field by rookie Pete Rose.

But the Colts got that run back in the second with a walk, a single and a fly ball.

Cincinnati scored twice in the fourth with two out. Frank Robinson singled and took third on Gordy Coleman's hit. Coleman stole second and both crossed the plate when Edwards hit into center field.

The Colts scored in the seventh on an error and two singles.

Reds Manager Fred Hutchinson was ejected from the game in the sixth in an argument with umpire Lee Weyer over whether a bunt by John Temple was fair or foul.

Musial Erases Record Chalked by Babe Ruth

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Babe Ruth's career hi... of 1,356 extra base hits... went out of baseball's record books Wednesday night when Stan Musial walloped a fourth inning homer against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The wallop gave the St. Louis Cardinal star a total of 1,357 extra base hits, breaking the tie he gained last week with the old time Yankee slugger.

Musial now holds or shares 42 National League records and 15 major league marks.

Monroe Dumped From Tourney By Licking Unit

Four Errors in 7th Prove Costly to Pickaway County Nine

Monroe High School's baseball team was the last county nine to be dumped from Central District tournament when they lost yesterday to Licking Heights, 5-3.

The loss was the first of the year for the Indians, putting their record at 10-1. Coach Dick Everman's charges won the Pickaway County tournament crown and have all but cinched the league title.

Four costly errors in the top of the seventh, combined with one walk and two hits provided the winning margin. The host team scored three runs in the final inning.

The other two runs for the winners came in the sixth inning when Monroe hurler Randy Richardson walked three men and was touched for two hits.

THE LOCAL nine scored single runs in the first, sixth and seventh innings.

With only one out, a runner at third and the game tying run on first base, Jewell, Licking Heights relief pitcher, set down the next two Monroe batters on strikeouts to preserve the win for McDonald.

Sparks doubled in the bottom of the second inning, driving in an Indian run for the only extra base hit for the Pickaway Countians.

Besides turning in the last-inning relief stint, Jewell paced the winners at bat with a pair of singles and a double. He drove in two runs in the seventh inning.

Richardson went the route for Monroe, allowing only five hits.

Tonight the Indians host the Jackson Wildcats as they attempt to wrap up the league title. They have a game set at Logan Elm May 16. Coach Dick Everman currently is trying to set up a tilt with Teays Valley for May 22.

Score of Men To Join Minors

Baseball Teams Trim Rosters for Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With former Detroit ace Frank Lary heading the list, more than a score of ballplayers were heading for the minor leagues today, victims of the annual May roster trimming in the majors.

By noon, Eastern Daylight Time, all major league clubs were required to be down to the 25-man player limit. The big league rosters will remain at that figure until Sept. 1 when the limit is eased again.

By far the most active of the teams was the Tigers, pre-season picks as American League contenders who have been struggling to avoid last place.

Much of the Detroit problem has been due to the inability of Lary to approach the form that made him one of the top right-handers in the league. Hampered by a sore arm last season and rusty because of limited work this year Lary heads to Knoxville of the South Atlantic League to try to pitch his way back in shape.

The Tigers also recalled third baseman Don Wert and pitcher Mickey Lolich from Syracuse, while sending that International League club pitcher Bob Dostal and outfielder Purnell Goldy, both on 24-hour recall.

Some of the other "name" players involved in the cutdowns were outfielder Willie Tasby of Cleveland, optioned to Jacksonville of the International League, right-hander Eli Grba of the Los Angeles Angels, sent to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League; and veteran catcher Hank Foiles, released by the Cincinnati Reds.

Circleville Cindermen Place Second in SCO Track Meet

Circleville High School track squad placed second to host School Wilmington in the South Central League track meet yesterday.

The Hurricane scored 59 points, Circleville, 39 and Franklin Heights 34½. Tied for fourth place were Miami Trace and Washington C. H. with 29½, Greenfield with 24½ was in sixth, Pleasant View with 21 and Hillsboro with 3 rounded out the scoring.

The annual event saw five new records set, with Circleville's Jimmie Wood turning blazing to a league record breaking 20.15 in the low hurdles.

Called one of the top individual performers in the meet by Wilmington coach Paul Maples, the Tiger sophomore hurdling sensation also won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.3, just one-tenth of a second off the record.

LARRY HANNAHS, now a member of the Iowa State football squad, and a graduate of Circleville, owns the high hurdle record of 15.2. He held the low hurdle record prior to Wood's performance last night.

The slender Tiger timber topper also placed fifth in the broad jump.

Larry Graves of Franklin Heights won the broad jump with a record breaking leap of 21-feet, 5¼-inches, while his teammate Allen McHugh established a new mark in the high jump clearing 6-feet, 1¾-inches.

Setting a new Circleville school record and placing second in the high jump was George Trego, who cleared 5-feet, 11 1-8 inches.

The other record in field events was set by Miami Trace's Carl Weaver with 11-feet, 6¾-inches

With Central District Golf competition tomorrow and the South Central League meet slated Saturday the Circleville High School golf team has eased off on practice this week, according to Coach Bob Ransom.

Monday they copped a practice event at Wilmington 15-5. It was a five man affair with Tom Bivens shooting at 39, Tim Dickinson, 38, Bruce Helwegson a 44, Bob Fuhrman a 39, and Chuck Smith a 43.

Low man for Wilmington and showing promise of being a top contender for medalist honors in the league meet was John Cowgill who had a 36.

Tuesday the second foursome, composed of Richard Fuhrman, Chuck Smith, Dick Patrick, John Wardell and George Grigg downed Miami Trace in a practice match.

Fuhrman shot a 43, Smith a 45, Patrick a 46, Wardell a 48 and Grigg a 49.

District tournament drawings are slated for 4:30 this afternoon and the event will start early tomorrow morning. The league meet will begin at 9 a. m. at the Pickaway Country Club Saturday.

The American League had ten 20-game winners in 1920, as many as it has had in the past six years put together.

Relief Cases Show Drop Here During April

Pickaway County's relief case load for April showed a drop of 65 from the number recorded during March it was reported by Pauline Reese, welfare director.

Miss Reese noted there were 91 cases in April and 156 in March.

She attributed the reduced load largely to increased employment. Other factors affecting the load were social security benefits, workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation.

Several cases were transferred to other assistant programs and several were closed because of the decrease in the percentage of need.

IN SPITE of the reduced number of cases, a sharp increase in medical assistance held the relief monies at near the March level.

Medical aid in April totaled 4,269.1, compared to $2,608.36 in March. Home care dropped from $5,192.75 to $2,877.98.

Total relief payments for April were $7,204.98. In March they totaled $7,801.11.

In April 1962, there were 122 relief recipients who were given $4,632.29.

Serious study of the Gulf Stream began in 1844.
